[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Brooklyn Revival.

New York, Nov 9—In conversation yesterday a well informed Brooklyn clergyman said he thought the revival would be taken up in nearly all of the churches after Moody and Sankey have finished. Beecher has already signified his intention of having a series of meetings and it is only the fear of detracting from the interest in the services of the evangelists that led him to delay until their departure. Chas. M. Morton of the Bethel Plymouth church, will also hold frequent meetings and believes the revival has done very much good to the field in which he is laboring. Rev. Dr Cuyler will continue the work. Dr Talmage constantly holds inquiry meetings at the close of his evening services, and it is believed Revs. Drs. Hall, Durvea, Scudder and many others will go on with the revival.

Business Failures.

New York, Nov 9—The failure of Solomon Mey er, dealer in ladies hats and trimmings was announced to-day.

Assignments were filed with the county clerk by Joseph Pallock and by James A. Wilbur.

Wickham, receiver of the Peekskill Iron and Mining Company, has closed the mines and furnaces which he worked during the past month in expectation that the company would effect an extension from the creditors. The liabilities amount to $100,000, and the receiver expects to sell the property in a short time for the benefit of the bondholders. The bonds and mortgage on the property amount to $100,000, and when these are satisfied there will be very little left for the creditors.

Whisky Indictment of Whisky Dealers.

Chicago, Nov 9—Nearly all the whisky dealers in Chicago have been indicted and brought into the U S district court to give bail for their appearance from day to day. The cause of this stretching out of the arm of the law is the alleged wholesale frauds which have been perpetrated on the government by these manufacturers of spirituous liquors. About seventy five indictments have been found by the U. S. grand jury, which is still at work. In the list of alleged criminals are distillers rectifiers, gaugers and storekeepers. The evidence against them has been prepared, and is supposed to be of a direct and positive character. The indictments show that the government has been defrauded out of the tax on over three million gallons of liquor.

At St. Louis the public interest in the whisky frauds continues unabated. Every new disclosure connected with the cases pending for trial or with the grand jury, is seized with avidity and made the subject of wild conjecture and speculation. Great interest was centred in the U. S. court room, which was filled by a large crowd of people eager to learn something new concerning the whisky cases. It had been announced that certain individuals would plead guilty, and much curiosity was evinced to know who these individuals were. A petit jury, which is believed to be incorruptible has been employed to try the whisky cases at St. Louis, and the U. S. court will be the theatre of interesting developments during the ensuing month.

Success of the Government at St. Louis—The Distillers Compelled to Disgorge.

A Washington special says the last of the indicted distillers at St. Louis, Joneau, pleaded guilty yesterday, and the time seems to have come to summarize the results of the opening of the campaign against the greatest and most successful fraud which has ever been waged by any department of the government. There have been in St. Louis in all thirty one pleas of guilty, and in every case except where the guilty plea have given evidence to the government the full measure of punishment will be enforced. The property seized in that city is worth $1,500,000, and will bring $500,000 to the government which will realize the same amount from the forfeited bonds of the distillers. In addition there are bonds of the twenty gaugers which amount to $300,000, all which the government will compel the payment of, making the total net proceeds of the judicial proceedings in St. Louis $1,000,000 which will be deposited in the treasury within 100 days from this date. It is estimated there has been stolen in St. Louis in the last three years $3,000,000 so that nearly half of the amount of the fraud at that point will be recovered.

If the government meets with as good success in Chicago and Milwaukee at least $3,500,000 will be put into the treasury. There will be probably one hundred convictions in all and a leak of $2,000,000 a year will be stopped. Treasury officials feel the utmost confidence in their ability to accomplish the same results in Chicago and Milwaukee that have been so triumphant in St. Louis.

A result of this success is the condition of the whisky market, which has been entirely free from crooked whisky now for several months. It is an interesting fact that before the raid on distillers began there was actually for a time quotations of illicit whisky in the market reports, the price being given day by day at about two cents a gallon lower than bonded whisky. The treasury officials who have directed the campaign have great reason to be, and are, of course, highly satisfied with what they have thus far accomplished.

The Conspiracy Trial.

A motion for a new trial in the case of J. A. Joyce in U. S. revenue agent, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government, has been heard and decision deferred until to morrow. Bitzinger is required to give a new bond of $10,000.

Vote on the New Constitution.

St. Louis, Nov 9—Returns from 61 counties in the State give a majority of over 30,000 for the new constitution.

Found Guilty.

New York, Nov 9—Colonel Des Anges, arrested while an officer of the custom house on the charge of being one of the silk smuggling set, was found guilty to-day. A motion in arrest of judgment will be argued Saturday.

New York, Nov 9—Money 2½ a 3 [illegible]; governments dull and firmer. Stocks dull and steady. Western Union 76⅞; Quicksilver 17½; Pacific Mail 38¼; Wells, Fargo 78½; N Y Central 104⅞; Erie 17⅛; Panama 131½; Union Pacific 65; Union Pacific bonds 103¾; Central bonds 103⅛.

The Spanish Army Recruiting in America.

New York, Nov 9—The Mail says recruits are being taken in this city by secret agents in the service of the Spanish government from among the most indigent of our foreign population—Italians, Irish, Poles and other European nationalities at the rate of $100 gold and a promise of a land grant of 50 acres at the close of the war in Cuba for a term of one year from date of being mustered into the service.

Inspection of the Mississippi Jetties.

St Louis, Nov 9—The following members of the advisory board of the south pass jettie are here and will leave with Captain Eads this evening to examine the improvement now in progress at the southwest pass, mouth of the Mississippi: Sir Charles Hartley, engineer of the Danube jettie; Gen J. D. Barnard, U S engineer corps; H. D. Whitcomb, engineer of James river Virginia improvements; Wm. Roberts, engineer of Northern Pacific Railroad. Other members of the board consisting of Generals G. S. Alexander of U S engineer corps; T. E. Sickles engineer Union Pacific Railroad, and Prof. Mitchell of U S coast survey are expected to arrive in time to leave with the rest of the party. The board will be joined at New Orleans by an official of the Russian government who is engaged in examining the chief engineering works in this country.

Meeting of the Tanners.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov 9—About 100 tanners belonging to the Tanners' Association are assembled in the Senate chamber in attendance upon their annual meeting. Tanners from Boston, New York, Louisville and Cincinnati are present.

Church Congress.

Philadelphia, Nov 9—The second annual Church congress of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States is assembled to day in St. Andrew's church. Right Rev. W. Bacon Stevens D D LL. D. bishop of the diocese occupied the chair. The introductory address was delivered by Right Rev Bishop Clark of Rhode Island. Papers were read and remarks made on Ultramontanism and civil authority.

Moody and Sankey in Brooklyn.

New York, Nov 9—The usual crowd attended the Brooklyn rink this evening. The hymn "the great physician now is near" was sung by the whole congregation. After prayer Sankey sang "I will sing you a song of that beautiful land." After the usual announcements and singing another hymn Moody said he wanted to talk this evening about heaven. He then related a conversation in which he once told a friend that he was going to talk about heaven that evening, when his friend said he had hoped that he was going to talk about something practical. He and a great many people think heaven is a myth. A man told me the other day that heaven was on this earth. Well if this is heaven it is a queer kind. He told of the suffering prevalent all over the land. Christ says "I go to prepare a mansion for you." We can't be too much about that subject. We are here for a short time only to prepare for eternity. [illegible] to make heaven [illegible] pointed illustration of the preparation [illegible] foreigners before leaving their native land for America to spend only a short time. He then pressed upon the congregation the necessity of making simple preparation for eternity in [illegible] world. He said if there is heaven and hell it is plainly madness to run from [illegible] for the future. God in [illegible] the one just as real as any city in this world [illegible] any kingdom upon [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] heaven [illegible] but one thing I know is that there is no hell [illegible] can hear prayers that come from this [illegible] earth [illegible] sigh that goes up from its children [illegible] the singing of the hymn and prayer the meeting was dismissed.

Completion of the Kansas Legislature.

Topeka, Ks, Nov 9—Full returns are in, which show there are but seven districts in which Demo cratic members are elected and eleven members who are classed as Independents. Most of these in a strict party division would vote with the Republicans. There are 18 members who are out and out Republicans.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Speculations as to the Forthcoming Message.

Chicago, Nov 9—A Washington special says it is now certain that three topics at least will be largely dwelt upon by the President in his coming message to Congress. These three topics will embrace the public school question, the financial and the condition of affairs in Cuba. Senator Morton who has been in the city for the last week is largely responsible in a large degree for the President's assuming a position upon the school question in the coming message. He has been persuading the President that he must assume the position of Gladstone in England and Bismarck in Germany, and combat against the growing demands of Catholicism. There is but one thing to be said about the President's Cuban policy and this can be said by the highest authority. He will not talk of war or the possibility of war in his message but will urge strongly the justice of recognizing the rights of the belligerent Cubans. He has made up his mind that he will carry his point in this regard with the aid of Congress if he can, and if not without its aid. In the absence of Congress the constitution gives him power to act. He proposes however to give Congress one more opportunity to take the responsibility upon its shoulders. Upon the financial question the President will endeavor to show by the late elections that the Republican party is the only party that believes in a sound currency and therefore the only one with which it is safe to trust the affairs of the country. On these three points advanced the anti Catholic, the advocacy of rights to the oppressed in Cuba and the championship of a sound currency the President hopes to reach a position of popularity that will cause the people to forget the many sins of the administration which have been charged up against him during the years of his reign. Standing upon the platform given above he is certainly the strongest man in his party. The talk of a third term was never stronger than it is now among men whose positions make their opinions worthy of attention. The annual message which is now in preparation under advice and assistance from Senator Morton is being shaped upon the idea that Grant is the only man who can save the party and consequently the country.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Mordaunt Divorce Case Ended.

London, Nov 9—The President of probate divorce and admiralty of the high court of justice to day made the decree of divorce absolute in favor of Sir Charles Mordaunt. This notorious case is now at an end.

Stanley Heard From.

New York, Nov 9—The Herald's London special states that letters have just been received from Henry M Stanley which are exceedingly interesting. They are dated Uganda in Uganda and give an elaborate and picturesque account of the continuation and conclusion of his examination of the shores of the Victoria Nyanza. They confirm Speke's view that the great lake is one large body of water and not a series of small lakes as held by Dr Livingstone. Stanley's observations and reports on this point of African geography are to be made the subject of discussion before the Royal Geographical Society on the 15th inst.

Fighting on the Malayan Peninsula.

Penang, Nov 9—The mutilated remains of Mr Bersch, late English resident of Peruk, have been recovered after a sharp engagement with the Malayans. In the fight Captain Innes of the 10th regiment was killed and two officers and eight men were wounded. All this side of the Malay Peninsula is greatly excited and a general outbreak is feared. Hongkong has been telegraphed for troops, one man-of-war, two gun boats and about 100 troops now at Peruk.

Troubles in India.

London, Nov 9—The colonial office publishes dispatches announcing that the British residency at Peruk, which was besieged by Malayans, was relieved on the 6th inst. Captain Innis was killed in the successful attack on a neighboring stockade.

Lord Mayor's Day in London.

London, Nov. 9.—This being lord mayor's day business and street traffic was for a long while to a great extent suspended. The weather which in the morning was cold and foggy, cleared up in the afternoon and became pleasant and favorable for the pageant and the installation of Alderman W. R. J. Cotton as lord mayor of London. After religious and other exercises at Guildhall the procession at about 2 o'clock started upon a long march stopping for a short time at Westminster Hall where the mayor and sheriffs took the necessary oath and returned to Guildhall. This evening his lordship will give a grand banquet.

In consequence of a report of a secret committee of the House of Commons on loans to foreign States it has been determined not to invite the minister for Honduras, Paraguay and Costa Rica. All other members of the corps diplomatique will as usual receive invitations.

To day being the birthday of the Prince of Wales the church bells were rung during the forenoon and salutes were fired from the Tower, the barracks in St James park, at Windsor and elsewhere. The city will be partially illuminated this evening.

Bank of England.

The amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to day was $60,000.

Turkish Affairs.

Vienna, Nov 9—The Turkish ambassador in this city has been summoned to Constantinople to assume there the ministry for foreign affairs. He is in favor of the reforms recommended by Russia, Austria and North Germany.

Spain and the Church.

Rome, Nov 9—Recently the Diario Español of Madrid gave publication to a statement that a note had been dispatched from the Vatican to Spain insisting upon the execution of the concordat attributing civil war to religious tolerance, demanding that the bishop of Urgel be tried by ecclesiastical judges, etc. The existence of this note is denied here. The communication from Spain is still unanswered.

German Affairs.

Berlin, Nov 9—The federal council has voted the increased army estimates and also 114,000 marks for the Strasburg university.

French Politics.

Paris, Nov 9—The assembly to day by a vote of 40 yeas to 8 nays adopted an amendment to the electoral bill enabling half yearly residents to vote in accordance with an agreement with the government committee.

Disraeli on European Affairs.

London, Nov 9—The lord mayor gave a grand banquet to night which was attended by members of the cabinet and other distinguished guests. It's reply to the usual toast in honor of her majesty's government complimented Mr Wade on the settlement of the China difficulty and continued: I wish I could say foreign affairs nearer home were as satisfactory as our relations with China. The partial revolt in Turkey has produced a state of things such as often becomes critical. The forbearance of the great powers immediately interested produced an affect such as some months ago gave us the right to believe the disturbance would cease immediately. Since then a dreadful catastrophe has revived the struggle and given a new aspect to the circumstance. It is impossible to deny they are critical but I still have great confidence in the forbearance of the powers. I have not merely trust but conviction that means will be found to bring about a satisfactory result consistent with the maintenance of the peace of Europe. I will not contemplate any other result. The interests of the imperial powers in reference to the question are more direct but not more considerable than those of Great Britain. The men who have charge of our affairs are duly conscious of the magnitude of our interests, which they are resolved to guard and maintain. Disraeli after glowing references to Indian colonial and domestic affairs concluded with these words: When I speak here again next year I hope to be able to congratulate you upon the maintenance of peace and trust also upon the success of our domestic policy, so that if an exigency should arise our sovereign be called upon to show her power and force she would be able to appeal to a contented and confiding people.

French Assembly.

London, Nov 10—The Times' Paris correspondent telegraphs that the vote in the Assembly yesterday by which the amendment to the Electoral bill was adopted implies a formal engagement to dissolve before March 1st, 1876, otherwise it is provided that elections will be held in conformity with the electoral lists expiring on that date.

Steamship Burned.

Boston, Nov 9—A special dispatch says the steamer City of Waco from New York for Galveston was burned outside of Galveston bar on the morning of the 8th. The officers, passengers and crew took to the boats, and were last seen heading westerly. A tug has been sent out.

New Orleans, Nov 9—The Galveston steamship City of Waco of the Mallory line arrived from New York yesterday and was anchored outside with the fleet of vessels. At 10 o'clock this morning she was discovered to be on fire. A strong northeast wind was blowing with showers of rain. The passengers officers and crew took to the ship's boats at 1 o'clock and passed through the fleet. The sea was so high the other vessels could render them no assistance. The last seen of the open boats they were drifting in a westerly direction down the coast. The agents of the line have telegraphed for a list of her passengers. One of the Galveston pilots who had gone out on her arrival was also on board. Carriages have been sent down the beach and a steam tug dispatched outside in search of the missing passengers and crew. The steamer burned to the water's edge and is now reported sinking. It is supposed the vessel and cargo are a total loss.

New York, Nov 9—The steamer City of Waco was an old iron screw steamship 1,400 tons burthen rebuilt about two years ago at Chester, Pa., and was in thorough good condition having been overhauled before sailing from this port. Her value was $250,000 partially insured. Her cargo was worth $100,000. She carried a crew of 30 men including officers. Her passenger list numbered 20 in cabin and steerage. Her cabin passengers were Miss J. M. Illing, Mr Rogers and wife, H Meyer, Mrs A. Horsley and child, Fanny Heller, B. Wedemeyer. In the steerage there were twelve passengers as follows: Robert Tarkington, Miss Mary Ehrenburger, S. S. Duane, A. Frades, Wm. McIntosh, Alex Christholm, M. Mincis and son, A. Steinmuska, A. Dusbraugh, J. L. Albert and P. J. Martin.

Galveston, Nov 9—The City of Waco which had burned to her hull, rolling in a heavy sea sunk at 1 P M to day in seven fathoms of water. The vessel and cargo are a total loss. The wind this forenoon was blowing a gale. The passengers and crew put off in the ship's boats of which she had four besides the life raft. Persons who went near the burning steamer report that the boats were all cast loose except one which was hanging to the ship's side one end of the boat having caught in the rigging preventing it being launched. The mate of the ship Fusigama which was lying a quarter of a mile from the Waco reports seeing a boat with persons in it pass his vessel at three this morning going westward. The sea was running very high at the time. The steam tug Buck Thorn was dispatched this morning and has been coasting in sight of land all day. Parties who have been out on the gulf shore to the western extremity of the island have just returned and bring no intelligence of the missing boats. Agents of the line have telegraphed to Indianola and Brownsville notifying vessels to be on the lookout for them. One of the pilot boats which has been out all day has just returned and brings no tidings.

The steam tug Buck Thorn has just arrived and brings the following additional particulars: Her officers stopped at the fleet when going out to ascertain from different vessels lying near when the Waco burned all the information possible relative to her passengers and crew. Only one of them the steamer Fusigama could give any information. Her officers report having seen what appeared to be a raft pass them. They made an effort to launch one of their boats but before it could be done the raft was lost sight of in the storm and darkness. The officers of the Buck Thorn went 20 miles west and could find no trace of the missing boats. The agent of Mallory's line is arranging to-night to dispatch another steamer at daylight in the morning with hopes of finding the Waco's boat lower down the coast. The wind changed to northwest about two o'clock and it is thought if the boats have not made a landing on the western coast they have been carried many miles to sea, and it is stated the life boats are all supplied with water, but it is thought the officers or passengers did not secure any provisions for the boats. There is no reliable information to be obtained as to the origin of the fire. There were heavy showers of rain early in the night with occasional lightning; some think the ship was struck by lightning and having a considerable quantity of oil on board took fire which could not be extinguished. Crowds have gathered at the company's office throughout the day to learn the latest news. There is much dissatisfaction expressed at the conduct of officers and men on board other vessels which were lying in sight and a number of them lying very near the burning steamer. With the exception of the efforts made by the Fusigama, there does not appear to have been anything done towards saving those on the Waco. Their excuse is the terrible sea which would have swamped their boats had they succeeded in launching them.

From all information possible to obtain to the present hour (10 P M) it seems the Waco was lying to head to the gale and the fire which first appeared forward on deck had caught in a large quantity of oil and swept over the vessel burning everything before it. Fifteen vessels were lying at anchor, thirteen of which were to the leeward of the Waco. The supposition is that if any passengers or crew had appeared about the vessel's deck or any boats had been launched they would have been seen by some of the other vessels none of which can confirm the rumors of seeing boats pass through the fleet. The impression is now gaining ground that not a soul on board the ill fated vessel is alive.

Another Wreck—Story of the Survivors.

New York, Nov 9—The brig Daly [illegible] has arrived at this port bringing Fredrick Hoffman and three sailors of the brig Helen G. Rich lost September 25th on Damus Key, off the coast of Cuba. Hoffman states that on the sixth day after the Rich went ashore he observed poles standing out from the rocks on the Key two miles away and with some of the sailors rowed to the spot and discovered the hull of an iron vessel nearly submerged near their landing place. In a rough circular structure built of stones they found two unrecognizable decomposed bodies of seamen, in another a third body was found, and on the opposite side of the principal hut was found a third shelter in which was still another body in a recumbent position resting against the wall. There was no food found and it was evident the men had died from starvation.

More Shipwrecks.

Boston, Nov 9—Intelligence received here leads to the belief that the brigs J. W. Spencer and Toronto and the schooners Moses Patton, Nellie Chase and S. [illegible] were lost with all on board during the terrible hurricane which recently caused so much damage at Jackmel, Jamaica and St. Iago.

In view of the artificial tendencies of society at the present time, two classes of people are proposing to do away with the high flourishes of weddings and funerals. Quaker families talk of abolishing the fashion of bridal presents, and Roman Catholics suggest plain funerals with only friends few carriages and no style. For a long time custom has been so exacting in its demands that the modest family purse has in many cases been well nigh exhausted after either a marriage or a funeral. The abuse which people in general have made of the privilege of entering a church to see a wedding will probably in due time be the means of restoring home marriages to favor. Even in those cases where cards of invitation are made returnable to the usher at the door there seems something objectionable and repellant in the air of "business" which accompanies the arrangement, and it must be admitted that although the sacred atmosphere of a church seems a suitable place for contracting such solemn obligations yet other circumstances being considered it is more in accordance with good taste that the ceremony be performed at home. Already the spectacle of a wedding retinue dashing through the streets at mid day in full evening array is losing favor as a popular custom.

All sorts of glass vessels and other utensils may be purified from long retained smells of every kind in the easiest and most perfect manner by rinsing them out well with charcoal powder, after the grosser impurities have been scoured off with sand and potash. Rubbing the teeth with fine charcoal powder and then washing out the mouth will render the teeth beautifully white and the breath perfectly sweet where an offensive breath has been owing to a scorbutic disposition of the gums. Putrid water is immediately deprived of its bad smell by charcoal. When meat, fish, &c., from intense heat or long keeping, are likely to pass into a state of corruption a simple and easy mode of keeping them sound and healthful is to put a few pieces of charcoal about the size of an egg into the pot or saucepan wherein the flesh or fish is to be boiled.

It is a decided mistake to suppose that plants are unhealthful in sleeping apartments or sitting rooms. Of course if the flowers exhale a strong perfume such as that of tuberoses, hyacinths, daphnes—they make the air too odorous to be desirable at night but healthy growing plants absorb the carbonic acid in the atmosphere and keep it pure and agreeable. They are in fact the best disinfectants that can be employed.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

A Libel Suit that does not go.

San Francisco, Nov 9—The complaint against Charles and Michael H. DeYoung, of publishing libel upon O. P. Fitzgerald was called up for examination in the police court to day after repeated continuances. M. H. DeYoung attended by counsel appeared in court to answer but neither complainant nor his attorney were in court. The prosecuting attorney stated that efforts had been made to find Mr Fitzgerald, but without success. Judge Quint counsel for complainant is absent in Inyo county. The prosecuting attorney did not draw up the complaint and was not disposed to try the absence of Judge Quint. The court intimated that the case would not be permitted to remain in abeyance much longer. Friday the 19th was fixed upon as the final day for hearing. If the prosecution is not then ready to proceed it was understood the complaint would be dismissed.

GOLD BANKS.

AN OFFICIAL OPINION ON THEIR PRINCIPLE OF MANAGEMENT, AND THEIR CONDITION ON THIS COAST.

Before leaving this coast Governor Langford, examiner of National Banks for the government made the following report to the controller of the currency, J. J. Knox:

The distrust of the gold notes that seized upon one half of the people of this coast during the panic was owing to ignorance on the part of holders of notes of value of the security held for their redemption and to the persistent efforts of foreign and State banks to discredit them and to drive them out of circulation and thus compel the banks to abandon the national banking system. This distrustful feeling has now nearly passed away. The press united in the effort to enlighten the people in relation to the security of the notes and this fact together with the circumstance of the prompt redemption of the Trust Company notes at the sub treasury has restored confidence in them and little demand for specie is made of the two city banks though the notes of the country banks accumulate in the hands of their redemption agents here at the rate of about $20,000 per day in excess of the amounts those agent are enabled to pay out over their own counters. They pay out all they possibly can. The excess ($20,000) the country banks take up promptly. The gold notes have found their way into circulation heretofore largely by being sent into remote mining regions the expressage on them being much less than on gold coin, but the deranged condition of business and suspension of labor upon many of the mines has lessened the demand for them in the country, and it would seem as if the same laws governed their circulation which regulated the old New York State country bank note circulation prior to the war, that whenever there is a demand in the country districts for the purchase of farm products, or butter or cattle, or for payment of laborers in the mines or elsewhere, few notes will be sent home for redemption, and when this demand ceases, the banks are forced to redeem. This law which governs the gold note circulation does not seem to apply to the national currency bank notes. With a restoration of the industries of this State to the condition of prosperity which existed before the late panic a much larger amount of gold note circulation than is now issued could be put out without trouble and without embarrassment, on account of redemption to the banks issuing it but if business continues to be depressed it will be difficult for the country banks to keep out much more circulation than has already been issued as long as private banks are enabled to continue the warfare against the system. The redemption now going on say $20,000 per day in excess of the amount the redeeming agents are enabled to pay out, though but 12 per cent over the total country bank circulation, is quite a drain upon them, on account of the high rate of expressage on gold to San Francisco. I have always thought that the gradual increase of gold banks in place of currency banks would be one of the greatest helps to and one of the first steps toward a return to specie payments and to accomplish this end every encouragement ought to be given to them, and all possible help and protection extended to them. A modification of the law so as to permit an issue of 90 per cent of par value of the bonds deposited for circulation would I believe, be desirable. In October or November 1874 I addressed you a communication on the subject of the reserve now required to be kept on hand by gold note banks on account of circulation. (See editorial in the Bulletin of Dec 12, 1874, for the details of the recommendation.) Referring you to that communication I have to say that I still think that five per cent. of the gold note circulation of any bank, deposited in the sub treasury at San Francisco will be a fund sufficient to meet all demands for the redemption of circulating notes and that the experience of this panic shows nothing to the contrary. Let the banks make and keep good this deposit and once let the fact become known that the sub-treasurer of San Francisco redeems all gold notes presented whether issued by city or country banks, and confidence in them would not be impaired by any panic. The country banks could make arrangements with their city correspondents to keep this five per cent. redemption fund good and take up the notes as fast as redeemed at the Treasury. This five per cent fund however, should be kept here, and not in Washington, for if the gold notes were redeemed there, instead of here they would be sent east in large quantities for exchange in place of gold. This would place the gold banks at the mercy of the private and State banks in respect of redemption of their circulating notes and gold banks would be worse off than at present if the redemption of their notes was required at the treasurer's office in Washington, rather than at the sub treasury here. I think that a law making all the gold notes that are redeemed at the sub treasury, receivable for duties upon imports, would be a desirable one. The moral aid such a law would render would be very great. Then private and State banks and bankers would have no excuse for refusing to receive or pay them out. As it is now, their constant aim is to keep alive the feeling of distrust concerning them. This they do by their correspondence with the country State banks and their offers to take them at a discount on deposit representing that they are not as good as gold, that the banks will not redeem promptly and more especially by representing that in the event of a panic they may be out of the use of the money for many days as the sub treasury is not the lawful place of redemption. Your promptness in arranging for the redemption of the Trust Company's notes at the sub treasury has weakened the force of their arguments in this behalf. If the view which I take—that the establishment of gold note banks and their gradual supplanting of the currency banks will be one of the most important steps toward specie resumption be a correct one they ought to be sustained and nurtured and the organization of new ones encouraged by every proper act of legislation, which will unite unnecessary reserves and facilitate and reduce the expense of redemption and if you attach to this matter the importance that I do in its effect upon specie resumption I am sure that you will agree with me that even so extraordinary an act of legislation as making gold notes receivable for duties upon imports after the banks have provided for their redemption at the sub treasury, will be most desirable. But a small amount of the banking capital employed on this coast is invested in National Banks. The five chartered banks the Anglo American, London and San Francisco Merchants Exchange, Bank of California and Bank of Nevada have an aggregate paid up capital of $17,000,000. Wells Fargo & Co, the Bank of British North America, Bank of British Columbia and a few private bankers, $7,000,000 more while but $3,000,000 is invested in this city in National Banks and $1,000,000 elsewhere in the State. With some liberal modifications of the law many of the State and private banks would organize as National Gold Banks. As matters now exist they are utterly hostile to the gold note system on this coast. During the panic gold notes were so depreciated by the private banks and brokers that they sold for 75 cents on the dollar in some instances and in one instance the seller took his pay in National currency bank notes at par selling his gold notes at 90 cents.

THE FUN OF POLITICS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

The political contests of the present season have been earnest, but thus far they have not been ill natured. We have observed, it is true in a Boston gentleman's epistles upon paper money a slight tendency to acerbity—observed it with mingled emotions of regret and surprise, but, as a rule, both writers and speakers have kept their little and great tempers remarkably well. No man has undergone a more driving shower of paper pellets than Mr William Allen, but we are happy in the belief that they have not shortened his already advanced life by a day. At one time we thought of making a collection, as nearly as possible complete, of the quips and quirks hurled at that reverend head, but there would have been a savor of disrespect in the plan, and, so remembering the biblical story of the boys and the bear, we abandoned it. Yet so long as the jesting is harmless and good natured it may even save us from a practical tragedy—towns from mobs, speakers from bad eggs, candidates from abuse and slander. A gentleman who runs for an office knows what to expect. If he happens to have a caricaturable face, he must not be surprised to find it in the illustrated newspapers; if he has a nose a little out of the common, remarkably long or short or snub, he will be often enough reminded of it; the peculiarities of his elocution are considered fair game, and if in any way he can be made ridiculous why ridiculous he will be made. It is happy for him if he can laugh with the rest. A squib in a newspaper is better than a big stone thrown through his front window and he cannot possibly appear so absurd in a wood cut as he as he might in a coat of tar and feathers. Fun is one of the safety valves of our political system. In other times and other countries unpopular men have been hustled, hanged, decapitated, burned, or banished; when we are quite out of patience with a Republican or a Democrat we triumphantly call the attention of the universe to the bulbous shape of his nose, to the squeak of his voice, to the uncertainty of his grammar or to the ridiculous chasm between his opinion of yesterday and his profession of to day. While the campaign is yet young he gets a nickname, as it advances he is put into the pillory of parody now he is made to point a pun and then to vitalize a conundrum. The humorists whose strength is in bad spelling, make him spell as badly as they do, his smile and his frown, his thunders and his murmurs, his hat his neckcloth and his pantaloons, the cigar which he smokes, all his idiosyncrasies, be the same of body, of soul, or of spirit; minute particulars of his private history from his first babyhood to his second (each merry alias by which he has been known, the deeds of his father and the doings of his grandfather, every failure and every folly, the "poetry" which he wrote in his childhood, the shoes which he mended in his nonage, the certain signs by which his dotage is established, the fibs which he told at school, and the castigations which were consequent thereon—the notabilia and the memorabilia and the ana of a checkered life—all these will risibly rise up against him! Woe be to him if he be of the thin skinned order of mammals! Unless he can laugh with the loudest receive pins without wincing in the fleshiest part of his constitution, and show himself morally superior to mosquitos, let him shun ambition and cling inexorably to private life!

We think that usually the public loses its respect for a candidate who cannot command his temper while it has a great admiration for affability under difficulties. The aspirant who gets into a passion, commits assaults and writes indignant letters of extreme length to the newspapers, may start with the better chance and miss his plurality after all. A quarrelsome disposition is about the worst possible qualification for a canvass. Considering how vehement are their differences of opinion the American people settle their political disputes at the polls in a remarkably quiet way. They suspect the availability of a man who allows a trifle to make him mad. They like good hard knocks, but in these there must be nothing manslaughterous. They prefer to see the gentleman who has been brought to grass and grief come up smiling.

Thus far our politics not always, it must be admitted over cleanly, venal, self-seeking often shallow as they are or inconsistent or fickle are yet free from the graver faults of murderous malice and of revengeful fury as well as from the hatreds which find a resource in assassination. Ours was, perhaps the most good natured civil war which the regretful skies ever witnessed, and it has left wonderfully little bad blood behind it. These small civil wars bitter but bloodless, in which every year we are engaged a necessary feature of Democratic institutions, need not make us forget our humanity in general and our brotherhood in particular.

FLAX CULTURE AS A CHANGE FOR LAND.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

As I have been raising flax for seed for the past five years, I have concluded to give the farming community the benefit of my experience in this direction.

The great marketable crop of this State, and the one likely to be for some time is the wheat crop. My first object therefore is to have my land, or a large portion of it each year in such a condition as that it shall return to me the largest results in wheat. To do this I find that a portion of the farm must be summer fallowed or changed by cultivating upon it some crop other than wheat and oats. My first plan was to summer fallow each season but being informed by the Oil Company of Salem that wheat would turn out as well on flax stubble as on summer fallow ground I concluded to try the experiment and taking a forty acre field of old land I sowed one half of the same in the large flax seed (Bombay) and summer fallowed the other half. Immediately after the flax was harvested I put the whole field into fall wheat, and the result was that the wheat from that portion of the field which had been in flax turned out as well as that on the summer fallowed land and, if anything better. Since that time I change my land each year by sowing flax and find the result much more profitable than summer fallowing.

Take for instance a 100 acre field. I consider it worth $3 per acre to summer fallow land well. This 100 acres, then would cost $300 to summer fallow. The cost of putting this 100 acres into flax including plowing, sowing, harrowing, cutting, threshing, hauling, &c, will not exceed $6 per acre, or $600 for the whole piece. Old land that is pretty fair grain soil will average at least seven bushels of flax to the acre or 700 bushels for the field which at say $1 40 per bushel (the present price in this county) will make $980 to be received from the 100 acre field. Deducting the cost of putting in the crop ($600) from this amount and we have $380. Now even must add to this $380 the cost of summer fallow ($300) and we have $680 as the net results from our land, and the same already to be plowed and sowed in wheat, with a certainty that the wheat crop will be as large as if this land had been summer fallowed.

As between summer fallow and flax raising, the object being the preparation of land for large yields of wheat, I consider the flax sowing much more profitable than the summer fallow.

OREGON.

The county court of Marion county allowed bills amounting in the aggregate to over $3,500 at its November sitting.

But little traveling can now be done over the country roads, which are very much cut up and "awful muddy."

The Union county Teachers' Institute was in session at LaGrande last week, was well attended, interesting and profitable.

Week before last was unusually rainy in Powder river valley and the roads became quite heavy, but agriculturists rejoiced.

In 1874 the total vote in Union county was 889. At the late election for congressman the whole number of votes cast was 479, a falling off of 410.

The citizens of Cornelius precinct will meet on the 13th inst to levy a school tax for the purpose of running a three, six or nine months' school.

James Whitney, indicted by the grand jury of Marion county for arson, in the matter of the burning of G. A. Cone's barn, near Butteville is on trial at Salem.

The Baker City Democrat of Nov 3d, ten days after the election, gives only the official returns in Multnomah county, and says the other counties are "reported."

Two brothers, named Crull, are charged by D. C. Reynolds of Umatilla county, with selling a lot of wheat which belonged to him and pocketing the proceeds. The sheriff is after the Crulls.

Quarterly meeting has been going on at Cornelius nearly two weeks. On last Monday evening there were nine or ten conversions, the evening before there were two. Rev. Mr Elliott presiding.

At the recent term of the circuit court in Umatilla county several saloon keepers pleaded guilty to indictments for keeping their saloons open on Sunday. They were fined $10 and costs in each case.

A heavy wind, during the night, about one week ago, blew a portion of the roof off the Blue Mountain University, at LaGrande. No serious damage was done except to cause the workmen some additional labor.

The ladies of Marion county who are interested in the Oregon department of the coming Centennial Exhibition, are requested to meet at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Nov 20th, at the house of Mrs J. H. Moores, Salem.

The lead horses to the stage between Union and LaGrande fell through a hole in a bridge, near the former place, and it was the merest accident that the other horses, stage and passengers, did not go through also. As it was the leaders hung by the tugs, heads downward, until the tugs could be cut.

At the municipal election in Baker City, on the 1st inst., the following officers were elected: Trustees, Geo. J. Bowman, J. P. Bowen, Aaron Weller, John Eppinger and F. M. Alfred; recorder, H. C. Durkee, marshal, Geo W. Wisdom, treasurer, R. Alexander. There were 121 votes polled.

Marion Lodge, No. 43, I. O. G. T. was reorganized on the 8th inst, by G. W. C. T. Dunbar, and seven new members added to the list. Sarah E. Garrett is W. C. T.; Rhoda Gleason, W. V. T., Adda Heustes, W. S., Mrs Needham, W. F. S., P. J. Dimick, W. T.; L. S. Thomas P. W. C. T., and G. W. Dimick, L.D.

Col Paige, who has just returned from a sojourn of several days in Eastern Oregon, informs us that everything in that part of the State has an appearance of more than usual thrift. The people are displaying commendable enterprise in the direction of an increase of their industrial forces and a corresponding accession to their wealth. The fine rains have started the grass and the hills are green as in spring while the fall sown crops are coming forward finely.

THE TERRITORIES.

A St. Andrew's Society was recently organized at Walla Walla.

A Walla Walla firm has already made and shipped 3,000 barrels of lard this season.

A Walla Walla sheriff beat four aces the other evening with a writ of attachment which he levied on the stakes, $90, and walked off with the coin.

Ed Cartwright, a man employed on the railroad at Walla Walla, had his hand so badly bruised last week that it was necessary to amputate some of the fingers.

The Denver News of the 27th says, "F. C. Warnky, one of Brigham Young's missionaries, has been preaching and praying with the Gentile heathen of Fairplay, but without making any converts."

The Courier is of the opinion that Olympia has entirely too many shade trees for either convenience or health. In hot summer days they are no doubt, pleasant, and just the thing but when the rainy season sets in it renders more dismal the prevailing gloom.

The Owyhee Avalanche says the Central Pacific Railroad Company refuse to come down on their unjust and exorbitant freight charges from San Francisco to Winnemucca, thinking that they have the people of this portion of Idaho completely in their power.

At the Boise races last week, a gentleman who was greatly indignant at one of the decisions given from the judges' stand, remarked in a pretty loud tone of voice that he "could lick any one of them for $100." John Hailey approached him and exhibited that amount of money asking him if he "meant business." He was taken aback and seemed to have forgotten his threat just about that time.

The Walla Walla Union says, "Some of our stock men say that grass is better and greener this fall than they have seen it before for the last ten years. Stock did well all summer, and in the dry weather the grass did not dry up as it sometimes does. As our stock is now generally in good condition, and the feed unusually good there is not much chance for stock to suffer this winter unless we should have an unusually long and severe one."

A Falling Heathen God.—Juggernaut, says the Pall Mall Gazette, seems to be in a bad way in India owing to the dilapidation of his pagoda at Pooree. An immense block of stone fell the other day from the central dome of the temple. It is fortunate that no one was killed, for the stone it is stated, is ten feet long, five broad, and four in depth and belongs to the inner cornice of the temple. The damage is imperceptible to the eye, owing to the intense darkness in the interior of the edifice, but the fall of the stone is a serious matter for Juggernaut for this reason: There is, it seems, a prophecy that when the first stone is unfastened the temple shall not stand. The repairs, it is estimated by the Oriaks will take at least fourteen years to complete and during all that time no public worship or festival in Pooree is allowable. It is, however not surprising that the temple is a little out of repair, for it was built by Rajah Anangabhima Deva of Orissa in the middle of the twelfth century before the days of scamping, contracts, and during the last 700 years not a trowel has been laid upon it for the purpose of repair. The dome is composed of immense blocks of stone, not kept together by cement or mortar of any kind but made fast by an elaborate process of dove tailing the slabs being arranged in horizontal layers, narrowing toward the end, covered by a huge head piece carved and ornamented.

The St Paul Press says: It is in pursuance of the regular quaker policy that old Zach has been appointed secretary of the interior. Zach is not merely a quaker—he is a regular old earthquaker.

If you become famous beware of the fools for they always gather around the people who are stared at.

NANNETTE SCHILLER.

She was born at Solitude, in 1777, and christened Caroline Christiane—the youngest sister of Fredrich Schiller—but she was always called "Nane" or "Nannette," and her short life of eighteen years was strangely [illegible] brilliant, and beautiful.

She was but five years of age when Schiller left home, bearing the burden of his father's reproaches, and it was not until she was fifteen that she again saw him. But during these ten years, while Fredrich was struggling with poverty and work, and yearly growing into love and fame by the poet's power and charm, the Schwesterlein Nannette was at her learning, reciting his poems, talking of the "wonderful, beloved brother," and unconsciously unfolding into a poet herself, without at all comprehending it.

The Schillers were poor—Nannette was a girl—and between the circumstances of poverty and the misfortune of belonging to the sex at that time of minor importance in Germany, her position was in no wise one to stimulate or encourage the unfolding of genius. The father Schiller was conservative, strongly opinionated, unyielding, and rather tyrannical, the mother was loving, gentle, but possessing marked strength of character, and sacrificing herself in every possible way to the advancement and happiness of her children. Neither parent was blind to the superior endowments of Nannette—her beauty, her quick intelligence, her vivacity, her marked resemblance to Fredrich. But matrimony was the chief end of a German maiden's career, especially the one grand resource of one untitled and without fortune. So, with sober practical sense, the father and mother thought the accomplishments of housewifery of more use than "book learning." The eldest sister, Christophine, married one Reinwald, contrary to her brother's advice, as he was of gloomy, difficult humor; but, womanlike, she thought she could transform him with the sunshine of her nature, and then her parents wanted "so much to see her settled." The second sister, Louise, a trusty, domestic girl, was betrothed to a young pastor. But the little Nannette, born as she was for something quite different from her humble home life, met her fate like a gay young philosopher, and [illegible] dishes, sewed, spun, cooked, and baked while singing the songs of her fatherland and declaiming her brother's poems. She had a wonderful memory, and the poems once or twice read over were fully retained in her mind. At first she learned them because "Fredrich wrote them," and the rhythm pleased her; then as she repeated them over she gradually caught their meaning, and in all Germany, Schiller had no other appreciator quite like his little sister, whom he scarcely more than remembered. So great was her passion for declaiming that she would place chairs to represent different characters in the dramatic poems, and mounting one, and then another, impersonate them. In this way the time passed until she was fifteen, when the great event of her life happened.—The Galaxy for November

NEW DEMONSTRATIONS OF THE POWER OF MASONRY.

[From the Report of the Masonic Grand Master of California.]

A certain man, before leaving his old home in the East, had been made a Mason, but since coming to the Pacific coast, had not visited a lodge, but had fallen upon evil paths and been led into dissipation. One day he was looking for some articles in his trunk, when he came upon a forgotten package which, when opened, was found to contain his lamb skin apron (for the lodge wherein he was made a Mason had made it a custom to present each member with this emblem of masonry.) The sight of the spotless vestment, more ancient than the golden fleece or Roman eagle aroused a flood of recollection in his bosom. In imagination he was carried back to his old home where he had been honored and respected, to the time when he stood in the northeast corner, a just and upright man, where it had been given him strictly in charge thus ever to act and walk. He asked himself how he had fulfilled the charge? Had he walked as an upright man? He felt that he had not. But the spark of manhood which still lingered in his bosom was strong enough to kindle a raging fire for reform. He put the apron away, and went forth determined to conquer the terrible demon that had been leading him on the the abyss of destruction.

He made himself known to some of the Masons of the city, frankly admitted this wrong-doing, and asked them to assist him in reforming. A helping hand was extended, the strong grip was taken, and by it he was lifted out of disgrace into which he had fallen through evil associates, and once more stood a just man. He is now honored and respected by the workingmen in the temple, instead of being an outcast and disgraced.

WEDNESDAY MORNING NOV 10 1875

THE [illegible] FROM WASHINGTON

Until further advised we must be permitted to doubt the truth of the Washington special published elsewhere respecting the forthcoming message of the President. With no predisposition to scepticism as to any extraordinary statement that may be made concerning the performances and purposes of the President we can hardly conceive it possible [illegible] such a course as that indicated in the telegram referred to. We have all along supposed he was strongly inclined in favor of the Cuban insurgents and although that insurrection has appeared to us more like an organized system of brigandage than the struggle of an oppressed people to secure the enjoyment of liberty under an orderly government still it must be admitted the President has some very respectable company in the views he seems to entertain. Nor can his proposed remarks on the school question be a surprise, after his Des Moines speech albeit many would question the propriety of his making it a leading feature of his message since the subject of education has generally been considered as peculiarly within the purview of State administration. But the idea of his taking up and discussing party politics as this dispatch says he will seems scarcely reasonable. A state paper such as the president's annual message to Congress, would not be expected to be made a party campaign document, even by President Grant. We hope and believe he will not carry out the programme made up for him. If it is his purpose to be a candidate for re election, he is not so foolish, we are persuaded, as to take this method of opening the canvass in his own behalf. It must be admitted that he has chosen a very dangerous adviser, if it is true that he is assisted in the preparation of his message by Senator Morton but even that inflationist and bloody shirt statesman could not be so foolish as to urge upon him the sending to Congress of such a message as that which is outlined in this suspicious special

A NEWSPAPER MONOPOLY

Some persons conspicuous in the Indian administration entertain very extravagant ideas of their right and duties or else the following dispatch to the New York Times is a fiction

PARSONS Kan Oct 25 —The first number of a new paper called Indian Progress published by Boudinot & Harris appeared at Muskogee Creek Nation yesterday. It is reported that Gen Shanks Indian commissioner, and M P Roberts have obtained a charter from the Creek Council to publish an international paper at Muskogee and that they have also obtained an order from the council directing the suppression of the Progress, and the removal of the printing material and building within ten days outside the limits of the Creek Nation, with a penalty of confiscation for failing to do so. Boudinot & Harris have appealed to the United States for protection with the view of ascertaining whether a newspaper can be suppressed or a censorship exercised over its columns

It may be possible that people so uninformed in the principles of free government as the Creek Nation of Indians could be induced to grant to certain particular individuals the exclusive privilege of publishing a newspaper among them especially when those particular individuals are of such peculiar prominence in Indian affairs as those mentioned in the dispatch above quoted but it can hardly be considered the most seemly performance for persons so related to these partially civilized, and wholly dependent people, to take advantage of their influential position to secure for themselves privileges inconsistent with even the most limited views of the relations of the press to free government. Such a monopoly though in this particular case it may be in fact harmless would so violate all sound principles of republican government—principles which it has long been the professed purpose of the general government to foster among the partially civilized Indian communities—that it can hardly be conceived as possible for the courts to uphold it, notwithstanding it may have under it the prop of a decree of the council of the Creek nation. Censorship of the press, in any form with which civilized countries are familiar with it, is not nearly so vicious in principle as a chartered monopoly of the right to disseminate information among the people

THE WAY TO INFLATE

How are the new issues of greenbacks to get into circulation when the inflationists obtain control of the government and set the rag mill at work? These greenbacks are not to be scattered abroad at random, so that every individual can grab his hands full. There is not to be a grand scramble of the people for the best position to pick up the precious chaff which is to be blown over the country promiscuously. Then how is it to be put into circulation? How distributed? The inflationists have the answer. The tariff is to be abolished, or so reduced that one half of the revenue now arising from that source will have to be manufactured at the rag mill. Then the internal revenue will be reduced and the deficit made up from the mill. Large appropriations will be made in every section of the Union for internal improvements, for improvement of the rivers and harbors etc and the mill must furnish the money to meet the appropriations. By these and similar means it will not be at all difficult to add two or three hundred millions a year to the volume of currency in circulation. And then if that resource should be found too limited to meet emergencies as they arise there remains the [illegible] adjustment of the public debt and the repudiation plan by which the amount of the circulation could be augmented to any required extent. By this method the country could in a very short time be placed in possession of all the money that heart could wish and of the very cheapest kind at that. Greenbacks would soon be as easily obtained as Confederate scrip was during the last years of the war, when it was reported that [illegible] cents gold per bushel. With this abundance of money [illegible] national [illegible] and with nothing between us and the realization of it except the [illegible] theories of the party in power it cannot be regarded otherwise than as an exhibition of the most astounding stupidity for the people to keep pushing the inflation Democracy back to the rear and clinging to the party which insists on cramping commerce with an obsolete metallic currency

ADHERING TO THE RULE

Before the retirement of Attorney General Williams from the Cabinet certain charges were preferred against U S District Attorney Bliss of New York which on examination by the Attorney General were dismissed. After Mr Pierrepont was made Attorney General charges substantially the same as those presented his predecessor were preferred before him. He declined to take cognizance of them on the ground that the matter had been passed upon in his office before he came in and he was not disposed to reopen the investigation. Then they were taken to the President who it was supposed would refer them to Mr Pierrepont for consideration but the Attorney General gives the persons making the charges to understand that even in that case he will decline to investigate them. He says the application to the President is of the nature of an appeal from a lower to a higher authority and he does not propose under any circumstances to depart from the long established usage of his department and hear cases that have already been decided there and are in the hands of the higher tribunal upon appeal. The good sense of this view commends itself at once and the firmness of the Attorney General is admirable

A farmer of Washington county who is pretty generally acquainted with the condition of agricultural affairs in that section informs us that there is not nearly so much wheat sown this fall as there was last. The amount of summer fallowing has fallen off very perceptibly this year. Unless the acreage of spring sown wheat shall be greatly increased, it is predicted that the harvest of next year will fall far below that just reaped. This fact appears rather surprising, when it is remembered that the price of grain this fall is such as to offer much greater encouragement to wheat growers than that of a year ago. The decrease of fall sowing may however be attributable to the fact that the frost of last winter destroyed many fall sown fields. The farmers perhaps have come to the conclusion that it is better economy to sow in the spring and accept the slight reduction of yield than to take the risk of a loss of their labor and seed

The success of the Treasury Department in its efforts to bring the perpetrators of the whisky frauds to justice is really something remarkable. It looks as if the thieves would have very little of the swag left by the time they have got through with their fines and penalties and settled their expense accounts. Such thorough work as is done in those cases will inspire the whisky rings with a respect for the government such as they have never entertained heretofore besides adding quite an item to the revenues of the government

On the heel of the terrible disaster which carried the large list of passengers of the Pacific to the bottom of the sea, comes intelligence of a number of similar events though on a smaller scale at the East. These horrifying disasters are apparently increasing in frequency every year. There can be no doubt that in many cases they are nothing short of wanton sacrifices of human life to the greed of gain of the owners

Rumors were rife on the streets yesterday evening that other survivors of the wreck of the Pacific had been picked up but we are sorry to say there was no reliable authority for the report

Governor Grover proclaims a feast of thanksgiving and turkey to be holden throughout all Oregon on the 25th of the present month

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

In becoming acknowledgement of the abounding blessings and mercies at the hand of an Allwise Providence vouchsafed to us as a State during the year now drawing to a close making all rejoice in seed time and in harvest, preserving us from the ravages of pestilence fire floods and storms and meting out to us the full fruits of our common industries as it were to a peculiar people I do hereby appoint Thursday, the 25th day of November 1875, to be observed as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God 'Who maketh peace in thy borders and filleth thee with the finest of the wheat.'

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN. In an experience of three years with the Averill Chemical Paint more than one half the jobs have chalked peeled or cracked off notwithstanding the Paint was warranted to do neither and out of sixteen failures the California Chemical Paint Company have refused to furnish Paint to repaint but six of the sixteen. I refer to the following houses that have cracked peeled and chalked off in this place: James Corey H C Morey M D Thomas Darrough E J Bryant F H Farmer Frank Oldham J H Trickey G Woodward Thomas Rea P Ball D Whitney William Wilson J M Linfast E Billich [illegible] J A Baxter Music Hall Catholic Church and I might mention many more

2 POST ST SAN FRANCISCO Sept 11 1874

To Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gents I had my house in Oakland painted with your paint. It was warranted to be good and satisfactory in every respect. I was obliged to have the third coat put on to make it look as if it had been really painted and even then I think one good coat of your Paint would have given the house a better appearance. I think you ought to make up to me the loss I sustained besides the annoyance I felt in knowing that an inferior article had been put on when a No 1 article had been promised. To whom it may concern. Seeing in various papers that the California Chemical Paint Company continue to deceive people by saying that the Averill paint will neither peel crack nor chalk off, I deem it my duty to say that my house painted with the above named paint in the fall of 1873 failed in less than eighteen months after being painted by peeling cracking and chalking off in the worst manner imaginable. I also observe that the company have my name in their printed matter as reference, this was done without my knowledge or consent

CITY.

DEEDS OF DARING.—Some years ago the purser on the steamer running between this city and the Cascades captured a bear under circumstances that for a time gave him some local reputation for daring and skill though it was secretly whispered that bruin suffered death by being struck by the steamer's wheel and that the part which the gallant purser performed was to shoot the mangled carcass as it floated from under the boat, and then send the deck hands after it, who brought it on board. This story, however was probably started by some one who cannot see a man perform a brave act without expressions of disparagement. But our hero of the bear story is again entitled to notice on account of his daring and prowess. This time it was not the life of a wild beast which he took but the life of a human being that he saved, and the U S has one more soldier in her army now that she would have had but for the purser's heroism. To be more specific, as the steamer Fanny Hayward was leaving the wharf at Vancouver yesterday a soldier in attempting to jump aboard, fell into the river, and was fast sinking out of sight, when the purser with thoughts of salvation for the soldier or a watery grave for himself, rushed to the guard of the boat, plunging forward into — position, caught hold of the guard and reversing himself, thrust one of his legs down beside the boat in reach of the man in the water. As a drowning man will catch at a straw so the soldier grasped the extended pedestal and was drawn on board, the same carpenter at our hero's time say by the help of the deck hands again but the fair minded who witnessed the act say the gallant purser deserves all praise for saving the life of one of Uncle Sam's noble defenders and we accord the merit to N B Ingalls, Esq the purser aforesaid

THE STAGE ROBBERS.—Mr. H. C Paige general agent for Wells, Fargo & Co. for the North west coast, returned last evening from Pendleton, where he has been absent some time in attendance at the examination of the supposed stage robbers. Mention was made last week of the arrest of two men at Weston by Lot Livermore and a man named John Bowman who it was supposed were the persons that stopped the stage near Umatilla. One of the prisoners is named James Maxon and is said to be the son of a man of that name down near Vancouver. He was a soldier awhile back, but had been discharged. The other is named Ben Berry and was formerly a driver in the employ of the N. W. Stage Co. The examination was held before Justice Williams, of Pendleton, and commenced on Tuesday of last week. Messrs. Isham, Fverts and Knox were engaged as counsel for the prosecution and J. B Turner for the defence. The witnesses for the State were as follows William Glover, the driver of the stage Lot Livermore J B Keeney, Dave Wright, Sam Sturgis Jas Cathrell, A. H. Burchfield, J M Johns W G. Mize, E. M Perrington John Bowman and D M Taylor. On Thursday Col. Nash of Walla Walla was called to assist the defence. The defendants were held to appear before the grand jury in $2 250 each. They were unable to furnish bonds and are now confined in the county jail at Pendleton to await the action of the grand jury. The prisoners will be tried in Umatilla county before the State circuit court and will not be brought down to Portland for trial in the U S district court, as has been previously stated. As the mails were not robbed, there being none on the stage, the State circuit court will have jurisdiction in the matter.

WHY THE DELAY?—Since the bell tower has been raised to its present altitude the roof has been in a leaky condition. The tin used in roofing the tower before its elevation was put down again after the bell was raised. Either the tin is very inferior, or else the job was poorly done, for when it rains the water pours through the roof like it was a sieve. The attention of the common council was called to the condition of the tower roof some time ago, but for some reason no action was taken. Last Wednesday the matter was brought up in that body and an authorization passed, and the committee on fire and water was instructed to have a new tin roof put on at a cost not to exceed $30. Notwithstanding the fact that the authorization was made last week, not the first step has been taken toward improving the miserable condition of the roof. During Thursday and Friday nights the rain descended in torrents and as a natural consequence the upper end of the tower was flooded. The electrical apparatus used in striking the bell became so rusty from the water that on Sunday and Monday the machinery refused to respond when the key was touched and for the days mentioned the bell did not give the regular taps at noon. Yesterday we called and inspected the apparatus, and found it in a bad condition being very rusty and almost unserviceable. Chief Engineer Hallock has been working at the machinery for several days, and has at length got it in a condition to render service. This apparatus cost the city about $1,800, and if permitted to stand exposed will soon be wholly worthless. There is no reason to offer so far as we can see why the new tin roof was not put on last week. Why should there be any more delay now?

A CANARD.—Madame Rumor, that imaginary female of such wonderful creative powers, was industriously circulating reports last evening about the streets, in regard to the late marine disaster. Soon after the steamship California reached her wharf from the north, it was reported that nine survivors of the ill fated Pacific had been picked up by the former vessel on the way to this port. Other reports of a contradictory character were flying about from mouth to mouth, so that little or nothing could be ascertained. However, sufficient is learned to enable us to contradict all such rumors. The officers and crew of the California heard nothing of the disaster until Astoria was reached. On arriving there they were informed for the first time that the Pacific had foundered at sea and that all on board, save one, had found a grave in the ocean. Such being the case, it is scarcely a plausible story that the California picked up some of the survivors. The officers report that they saw fragments floating about not a great way from where the Pacific is supposed to have gone down which in all probability, were portions of the wreck. No particular notice was taken of these fragments as those on board knew nothing of the disaster.

SOME MISTAKE.—In the Mountain Sentinel of Nov 6th we find the following: "Two men named John Hefforin and J B Cox were arrested at Weston on last Saturday charged with the recent stage robbery. They were undergoing an examination at Pendleton yesterday and our latest advices indicate that the evidence will be circumstantial in nature but pointing strongly toward them as the guilty parties. Cox was here with the Waldron theatrical troupe a year or two ago. Hefforin formerly worked at the Virtue mine and has something of a rough reputation as a shoulder-striker." Our neighbor is evidently laboring under some mistake. One thing is certain he has got the names wrong. Besides, J B Cox never belonged to Waldron's theatrical troupe. A man named E H Cox did, but he is now somewhere in California.

ARRESTED AND UNDER BONDS.—Mr Wm K Ish and a man named King were arrested last evening, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. The parties were held to appear this morning, each in the sum of $500 when an examination will be had before Justice Bybee. On complaint of King, Ish was held to answer the charge of manslaughter in the sum of $2,500. Ish will have an examination this morning at 11 o'clock. Defendants in both cases furnished the necessary bonds and were released.

OREGON QUARTZ MILL AND MINING CO.—Reports from the mine are to October 31. The superintendent reports over 4,000 tons of pay ore in sight. The new mill had commenced crushing and would reduce 10 to 12 tons per day. It is estimated the ore will work from $20 to $35 per ton. The company expect to make the first clean up by the 15th of November, current month, and will forward bullion as stage travel will permit.

SAFE AT ASTORIA.—We learn that the ship Benj Sewall, Capt. Pennell, arrived safely at Astoria yesterday morning. The Sewall left here on Sunday morning having most of her cargo on board. While on the way down the Sewall got a little out of the channel just below the Hog's Back and ran aground. After remaining for a few hours the Sewall got safely off and proceeded to Astoria.

NEW UNIFORMS.—In order to procure a good article at a moderate price, the Washington Guard advertise for 350 yards of gray woolen cloth which they propose to have made up into new uniforms. The style of which has not been determined upon. The old style suits have stood considerable wear and tear, and the Company having some spare filthy lucre in the treasury intend to use it in the purchase of a new outfit. The Company are to be congratulated, and we trust they will get things in shape for parade on Washington's birthday.

CONVALESCING.—From a Walla Walla paper of the 6th inst we learn that the condition of Captain Sladen has very much improved during the past week and his life is now considered safe for the present at least. The danger so much dreaded by the surgeons of gangrene reappearing in the stump is about over. We hope the time is not far distant when the kindly face of Captain S will once more be visible to his friends.

GONE TO WALLA WALLA.—Mr B M Washburn for many years a resident of Vancouver has removed with his family to Walla Walla where he expects to permanently reside for the future. Mr Washburn acted in the capacity of postmaster at Vancouver for several years and was connected with the publication of the Register and other papers there. He will hereafter be identified with the publication of the Spirit of the West.

TARGET PRACTICE.—The Washington Guard decided last evening to hold their annual target practice on Thanksgiving day. The matter was almost forgotten but a suggestion from the OREGONIAN brought the subject before the meeting last night. In all probability a committee from the Company will select practice grounds in the vicinity of Albina.

PRESENTATION.—Mr. T. C. Trengove formerly connected with the car shops of the Oregon and California railroad, was presented a few days ago by his friends in that department with a watch and chain as a token of their esteem and respect for that gentleman. Mr Trengove has retired to quiet farm life on Mount Tabor, several miles east of East Portland.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U S Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, November 9 1875:

TAKEN TO SALEM.—In custody of Sheriff Jeffery, Geo Connor and John Dougherty, each sentenced to the penitentiary for three years were taken to Salem and committed to the care of Superintendent W H Watkinds. This morning the other two boys—Willie Reynard and Chas Carroll—will be conveyed to the penitentiary.

ARM BROKEN.—Chancey Howard a young son of Gen O O Howard fell out of the door of the second story of a barn a few days ago, while playing with some of his young companions and broke his arm. The little fellow was carried home and a physician called who attended to the lad whose condition is improving daily.

BARON ABERDARE.—This large ship arrived here last evening in tow of the C J Brenham from Astoria. The vessel now lies at the Gas Company's wharf, where the coal with which she is ballasted will be discharged. The Baron Aberdare enjoys the distinction of being the largest ship which has ever come to Portland.

W R T Co's STEAMERS.—The steamers of the Willamette River Transportation Co are running with great regularity to points on the Willamette, Yamhill and Columbia rivers.

THE BIG RACE.—Pools will be sold by Oscar Kilbourn on Thursday and Friday evenings at the Holton house.

BRIEF NOTES.

Still descending—the rain.

Board of Trade this evening.

Plenty of apples and sweet cider now in the market.

The steamship John L Stephens arrived at San Francisco yesterday.

Some of the roads leading to the city from the country are very muddy.

The vessels Herbert Black, George Moon and Ada Iredale are all moored at Flanders wharf.

Since receiving new machinery, the steamer Alice has been running on the upper Wallamet.

The northern wall of the O S S Co's dock is being weather boarded to prevent the rain from beating in.

The steamer Ajax arrived here last evening from San Francisco with a full freight and a large number of passengers.

Postmaster Cole received a bill of 80,000 postal cards yesterday and the aforesaid cards new style arrived on the steamer.

We still hear complaints that the lamplighters are tardy in lighting the street lamps in the western and muddiest part of the city.

Next Monday the November term of the State circuit court for Clackamas county will commence at Oregon City. Judge Shattuck presiding.

The steamer Orient is still running between Portland and Oregon City. The steamer E N Cooke is lying at the latter place undergoing repairs.

Last night while the ship Baron Aberdare was coming up the river opposite the boneyard the mast caught on the telegraph wires which cross the river at that point and broke them off.

The pound-keeper could realize a small fortune and would benefit annoyed citizens if he would impound a number of stray cows that have been feasting in yards near Main and Seventh streets recently.

DISPATCHED TO THE SCENE.

We are in receipt of the following dispatch from Port Townsend, under date of Nov 8th:

Collector Webster immediately dispatched the revenue cutter Wolcott Capt Harwood to the cape and vicinity, to search for survivors of the ill fated Pacific. She will reach the cape at daylight to day.

Up to a late hour last evening no additional particulars have been received. When the Wolcott returns to Port Townsend from the cruise we shall expect to receive some more details of the disaster.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

On Friday evening, Nov 12th the East Portland Social Club will give a soiree at Odd Fellows Hall.

Next Tuesday evening Nov 16th a social hop will be given by the Scandinavian Society at Good Templar Hall.

The ball given last evening at Good Templar Hall under the auspices of the Liberal Association, was largely attended and a very pleasant time was experienced. Good music was furnished and dancing was kept up until a late hour this morning.

AMUSEMENTS.

The readings at Masonic Hall, given last evening by Miss Holbrook gave satisfaction to the audience and were heartily appreciated. This afternoon Miss Holbrook will go to Salem where she proposes to give a reading on Thursday evening. We understand that the lady proposes to visit a number of towns up the valley and give readings.

PERSONAL.

We observe by a Chicago exchange of Oct 5th that Hon James K Kelly United States senator from Oregon was stopping at the Gardner Hotel.

The visitors to Central Market will find the coffee stand in the west end.

Every gentleman who has any desire to present himself in society in a becoming manner should dress well and in order to do so we would suggest that he visit the house of Fishel & Roberts. They aim to please their customers.

If drugs cannot cure you go and consult Dr Wood at American Exchange.

G W Walling & Son Willamette Nursery Oswego, have established an office at the Grange Market Front and Madison streets where orders will be received for fruit trees.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

J Martin & Co are offering a full line of the best bitters in the market. The trade is solicited to give them a call.

The Silver Steel Diamond Cross Cut Saw manufactured by E C Atkins & Co, Indianapolis Indiana is announced by Kirk Sheldon of East Portland. This saw has been quite popular and a large supply has just been received.

Our San Francisco agent sends by telegraph an advertisement of S I Jones & Co the well known auctioneers who announce a large sale of teas on Thursday 18th inst. In making their announcements this firm usually give notice in this manner which indicates that they are energetic and do not stop to mail their notices but are prompt and spare no expense to bring their sales before the public by telegraphing it.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

Geo Edwards, drunk and disorderly, fined $10 in jail.

A J Simmons and Jack Sheehan drunk $5 each committed for three days.

Smith and McGowan were arraigned on a charge of vagrancy but were discharged.

A man named Brown for being picked up drunk was fined $5. He paid and was discharged.

SAVE MONEY by purchasing at H W MONNASTES' Crockery and Glassware Emporium 129 First street between Morrison and Yamhill. He will give more goods for the least money than any other establishment in the city. A large invoice of Fancy Goods for the Holidays just opened which are very attractive and will no doubt meet with ready sale. Be sure to call when you need any thing in his line.

The steamer Ajax brought another large invoice of goods for BECK & WALDMAN who are determined to keep their customers supplied with the very latest styles as introduced in the San Francisco market. It is really astonishing to see the immense stock carried by this house when we consider the fact that these are dull times and people are naturally disposed to hold on to coin. But as the firm have made their purchases at an advantage and can offer their customers rare bargains. Call and satisfy yourself and recollect the place Front and Washington streets.

People will go where they can buy the cheapest. Then it is no wonder H W MONNASTES has such a run at his store. Housekeepers would do well to call and see his well assorted stock of Crockery and Glassware Willow and Wooden Ware Rodgers Brothers Plated Ware and a full line of House Furnishing Goods. Prices are such that our customers are well pleased. No 129 First street, bet Morrison and Yamhill.

The Elegant Establishment of JOS KOHN cor of First and Morrison streets has been literally stuffed with fall and winter goods, which they are disposing of at a lively rate for the reason that Kohn has made some excellent selections and what is more the prices are ranging exceedingly low. When you want anything in this line in clothing do not further than go to find it to be found at Kohn's. Be sure and call when you find it necessary to purchase.

ALBINA ITEMS.

Work on the new revenue cutter is being crowded forward as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

A number of new residences are in process of construction in different portions of the embryo town.

The piles for Nicolai Bros' new sawmill have been driven and the machinery is all ready to be put up. Work on the building will soon commence.

Captain Douglass' new ferry boat Albina makes trips between the wharf at Albina and the upper end of the O S N Co's bone yard every twenty minutes. The boat crosses the river in about five minutes.

Mr Edwin Russell is having a neat and tasty residence constructed on elevated ground some distance from the river. The site of Mr Russell's building, commands a fine view of Portland and its suburbs. The residence will be ready for occupancy in a few months.

A new roadway is being made from the wharf along Mitchell street composed of stone and sand ballast which is being discharged from the ship Collingwood. The head of the street intersects the new road leading to Vancouver and a good solid wagon road will soon be made throughout the length of the street.

The iron works are kept busily employed in turning out different kinds of work. Eighteen men are constantly employed about the shop. Mr John Nation is the superintendent. Mr S L N Gilman is the secretary and book keeper and Mr Croft is the foreman of the works. A new and powerful rotary engine has just been turned out for some parties over on the Sound, also machinery for a steam sawmill on Columbia Slough, and a number of large water mains.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD

In making a lawn do not sod it, but sow seed in autumn or perhaps in the early spring. Dig it to a good depth and as it ought it ... fully.

The best way for keeping apples through for daily use is on shelves in a cool cellar ... months in which temperature is kept at ... inches deep that they may be readily picked over.

The brilliant colors of autumn leaves may be preserved by dipping the stems in melted yellow bees wax. The leaves should be well dried. By piercing the leaf near the stem with double thread wire you can weave them on coarser wire or on large cord in any description of garlands.

An open fire with a large chimney throat is the best ventilator for any room, the one half or two thirds of the heat carried up the chimney is the price paid for immunity from disease, and large though this seems from this daily draft on the wood pile or coal bin, it is trifling when compared with doctors bills and with the loss of strength and efficiency that invariably results from living in unventilated apartments.—Col Waring in October Atlantic

There have been but few noteworthy transactions from day to day occurring in our local money market. The city banks are receiving about the usual number of applications, and generally respond in a satisfactory manner to the demands of their regular customers, at the usual rates. Loans are occasionally effected on real estate security at 10@12 per cent. per annum, the lower figure being for large amounts and long time. The interests of merchants and of commercial men generally are well sustained on fair terms. Remittances from the interior are being made with moderate promptness, and cash sales of wholesale and jobbing houses show an increase on the average of last year. All things considered, the home money market is regarded by good business men as in a tolerably fair and, at least a safe condition.

Since the San Francisco panic there has been, in spite of a lack of any cause for it, a disposition on the part of some people on this coast to discredit the idea of the value and safety of that part of our multiform currency known as gold notes. The enlightenment of the masses on the question of the security of the notes and the prompt redemption of the Trust Company's notes at the sub treasury in San Francisco, has restored confidence in them in a great measure, but still there are those who hesitate to accept them in lieu of coin though there can be no well founded reason to doubt their equal value and safety.

The report of the mercantile agency of Dun & Co., noticed a few days ago, shows that the business failures in the United States during the first nine months of this year exceed the average of the three preceding years by 1,174 in number, and $3,780,000 in amount of liabilities. This is chiefly due to four heavy suspensions in New York City, aggregating $4,000,000 liabilities.

The San Francisco Bulletin thinks, however, that the heavy failures in New York do not fully account for the increase, but there are probably too many mercantile houses for the volume of business, and the unhealthy competition engendered thereby has brought forth its inevitable fruit. It is a comparatively easy matter to inaugurate a business by selling goods at low prices, and giving large and long credits; but no business can be successfully maintained in that way, and it is an unkindness in the seller to give the buyer more credit than he can be reasonably expected to meet. Competition is so active in many branches of trade that sellers often overreach themselves in this particular. Parties who do business at less than living profits, and are not over careful in the matter of giving credit, will not only surely come to grief, but will involve innocent parties in their downfall. A year of unusual financial storms and business shipwrecks is not altogether an unmixed evil. Such disasters necessarily cause more or less distress, but they purify the atmosphere by extinguishing weak and insolvent firms, leaving those who survive in a stronger position than before, and thus add tone to the standard of business morals. This process has been going on at a rapid rate during the last few months, and there is already a healthier beat to the [illegible] pulse, and the financial skies are brightening with the rays of a better dawn.

Ship Property in England.

A recent semi-annual circular, issued by the house of H. E. Moss & Co., remarks: During the last six months there has been no sign of improvement in the freight market. Not only have the transatlantic, East India and Black Sea trades disappointed expectations, but complaints have been general that employment nearer home has also proved unremunerative. The value in steamships has in consequence sensibly declined, and prices are much lower than at the commencement of the year. Many steamers of moderate size have passed to buyers, principally from the Continent, who have availed themselves of the opportunities of buying cheaply. There are many steamers of this class yet unsold, and purchases may be made on more favorable terms than during any period within the last six years. The depression has to a greater extent affected the value of large, powerful steamers, and a considerable number of this class can be bought at very moderate prices. Builders and engineers both on the Clyde and East coast have felt the general depression, and are anxious to secure contracts which can be placed with first-class firms at prices twenty per cent. under those current last year, and in the majority of cases we can arrange for very quick delivery.

The Drawback Repeal.

The Canadian sugar refiners do not seem to relish Secretary Bristow's repeal of his order of the 9th ult., for the Montreal Gazette of October 9th says:

> Local refined are still offered for sale, but the stock of new has all been worked up, and the refinery, in consequence of competition from the United States, will be closed until business can be resumed under more favorable circumstances.

The Wheat Market.

As far as we can learn, is without material change locally, though that of San Francisco seems to be declining. Shippers here will require a good deal [illegible] 10,000 tons—to finish cargoes of vessels now at hand. But a good portion of this has already been purchased and some of it is already on shipboard. However, the exporters at this point are freely taking all good shipping lots that offer at current prices, induced by the necessity of giving their vessels quick dispatch. The quotation of $1.75 is nearer the San Francisco price than our market has been before, and this fact will tend to check shipments hence to that point.

There are now in port, including the Herbert Black and Benj. Sewall, both partly loaded, seven vessels of the grain fleet. They are all of large size and will carry nearly 400,000 bushels of wheat. The movement in this direction from the interior continues as heavy as ever, and only the activity in shipments prevents the warehouses here from becoming overcrowded. Prices show but little inclination to go lower, though many shippers claim that rates are now 5@10 cents per cental higher than are justifiable under the prevailing freight charges and the condition of the markets abroad.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax, from San Francisco, arrived at half past eight o'clock this evening.

The Herbert Black has a good portion of her cargo on board and will go down the river very soon.

The Loch Fleet, with her ballast out, is receiving cargo at Greenwich.

The Br. ship Baron Aberdare, from San Francisco, arrived in port this evening. She has a partial cargo of coal.

The steamship California, from Victoria, arrived at 7 o'clock this evening.

The Br ship Ada Iredale is about ready to begin loading.

A Tenth Term Mayor

PROVIDENCE, Nov 10—Thomas A. Doyle Rep. was re elected mayor of this city to day for the tenth time.

Congress of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 10.—The church congress of the Protestant Episcopal Church reassembled. Papers on the best method of procuring and preparing candidates for the ministry were read yesterday. Rev Clement M Butler D D of this city said we should abandon the irreverent farce and desecration of perfunctory reading of the Bible in our public schools. The words of our citizens [illegible] would be the right thing to do who are yet unwilling to yield the point because it would seem like a surrender to Romish dictation. Like Falstaff, they do not choose to be virtuous in compulsion, but if it be our conviction however it may have been reached it will be true dignity to act on what [illegible] just concession. Then and then only can we place our public school system on a [illegible] foundation. Then only will all possibility be taken away from the claims for Roman and other sectarian schools. Then also would churches be made to feel anew and more deeply the duty of religious education of the children of the republic.

At the evening session of the congress the subject of church music was discussed. The first four speakers—Revs. E. N. Potter, of Schenectady, N. Y.; [illegible] Cook, of N. Y.; J. M. Shackford, N. Y., and George A. Wilder—took common ground against the practice of committing the musical parts of the service of the church to quartet or weak choirs in the gallery and, in favor of the congregation participating in this part of the worship. Each of these speakers was also adverse on the prevailing custom of taking operatic music, or adaptations from worldly compositions familiar to opera goers, given as part of divine service. Rev Wm Dyer Merrow of Easton Pa and J Vaughan Lewis of Washington expressed views which, while not entirely opposed to those above given, were diverse. Rev Mr Merrow thought that, instead of affecting to regard choirs lightly, their members should be considered as ministrants in the service and be encouraged to regard themselves. This would work an important change in church music. Dr Lewis took exception to the wholesale abuse of choirs together; [illegible] but plain music, or ecclesiastical music as it had been termed, and thought that greater distinction should be made between sensuous and sensual music in selections. The former he regarded highly effective as in church service and to exclude it would be to teach church goers that they must leave their physical natures at home when going to divine service.

Re-union of Pennsylvania Legislature.

HARRISBURG, Nov, 10—The reunion of the members of the legislature of Pennsylvania from 1813 to 1875, inclusive, took place in the house to day. The [illegible] was called to order by James Ross Snowden of Philadelphia, senior speaker, president. Hon. Abel Strohm of Lancaster, and Hon David Fleming of Dauphin acted as vice-presidents. Prayer was offered by Rev T H Robinson D D of Harrisburg. [illegible] Samuel Shock, clerk of the house in [illegible], acted in the same capacity and read the minutes of the last reunion which were adopted. Hon. Thomas E. Cochrane of York [illegible] stated the object. A number of letters from those unable to be present were read. Resolutions pledging members to use their influence to promote the Centennial [illegible].

A Life Term.

NEW YORK, Nov 10—The trial of John McGuire, [illegible] Jackson colored while returning from a picnic at Schutzen Park Brooklyn, Oct. [illegible], was concluded to day. Verdict guilty of murder in the second degree. McGuire was sentenced to State prison for life.

Consolidation of Baptist Papers.

BOSTON, Nov 10—The two leading Baptist papers here, the Era and Watchman and Reflector have been consolidated, with Dr. Lorimer in editorial control.

Annual Meeting of the Western Associated Press.

DETROIT, Nov. 10.—The eleventh annual meeting of the Western Associated Press was held here to day for the transaction of general business. The reports of [illegible] showed the affairs of the association to be in a prosperous and satisfactory condition. [illegible] were authorized for procuring [illegible] during the centennial and presidential year. The following board of directors were [illegible]: Joseph Medill, of Chicago Tribune; Richard Smith, of Cincinnati Gazette; W. N. Haldeman of Louisville Courier Journal; Joseph G. Siebeneck, Pittsburgh Chronicle; John Knapp, St. Louis Republican; A. J. Kellar, Memphis Avalanche; [illegible] Kentucky Register. The board of directors subsequently met and elected the following officers: President, M. Halsted of the Cincinnati Commercial; vice president, Henry W. Farrar of the Chicago Journal; secretary, H. E. Baker of the Detroit Tribune. A resolution complimentary to the old president, Hon H N Walker, upon his retirement from journalism was passed. Mr Walker was proprietor and editor of the Detroit Free Press for many years, helped organize the associated press, and has been its president from the first.

Congressman Kasson's Libel Suit.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 10.—The libel suit of John A. Kasson, present member of congress from this district, against J. C. Savery, R. P. Clarkson and J. S. Clarkson was begun in the district court of this county to-day. The alleged libel is an open letter written by Savery and published in the Register owned by the Clarksons. Kasson sues for [illegible] damages.

Pleads Guilty of Conspiracy.

ST. LOUIS, Nov 10—In the United States district court to-day Charles D Robbins, indicted for conspiracy against the government in removing unstamped whisky, appeared and plead guilty to the [illegible]. Indictments were returned against E. V. Edwards, B. F. Dodson, S. W. Hubbard and S. W. Mottout for counterfeiting. The men are now in jail.

Secret Service Detectives on Hand

The chief detective of the United States secret service, Washburn, and [illegible] are here, the latter to testify in the whisky cases.

[illegible]

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—A severe snow storm is in progress in Northern New Hampshire and Vermont. Ten inches had fallen at 8 P. M. in Brattleboro.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—A snow storm prevailed along the Mohawk valley to day.

Brooklyn Revival

BROOKLYN, Nov. 10.—The rink was again filled notwithstanding the bad weather. The hymn "Old, Old Story," was sung by the audience standing. The Evangelist Geo Needham offered a prayer, after which Sankey, aided by the choir, sang the 23d Psalm. Moody began his address without reading any Scripture lesson, and continued the subject of last night's remarks—the subject of heaven. He began his address by repeating the passage of Scripture in Matthew which commenced, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures." The reason so many are disappointed in these days is that they don't obey this command. Then the treasures of earth are taken away there is sorrow, remorse and despair, but if the treasure is in heaven it will never be taken away. The world is full of disappointment. On this account they won't obey God. A man may die very wealthy in the world's opinion but he is a pauper in the sight of heaven. Naked came we into the world and naked we depart. They that would be rich fall into diverse temptations. See how many wealthy families have sons who are ruined. A rich man was taken to the insane asylum, and when he arrived he threw himself into a rocking chair and cried "sixty years old, millions of money and in a mad house." He then compared certain Christians to a [illegible] to keep her from sinking, and they required to be towed all along the river of life to keep them from sinking back into temptation, thus continuing all the time of spiritual ones. A special service was held in the tabernacle after the regular services for the benefit of young men who could not leave their business. Moody delivered a stirring appeal to young men to work for God, taking the text of Mark 14, 15 and 16. "Oh what a work would be done in this world if they were [illegible]. They want just enough of Christ to make them respectable and of the world not to be called peculiar. Christ died to make us a peculiar people. The reason a great many professed Christians are in darkness is that they are conformed to the world."

Last Week of Moody and Sankey

NEW YORK, Nov 10—The old rain [illegible] washed from the fences big posters bearing the announcement that this is the last week of Moody and Sankey, and threw a chill over the morning meeting in the tabernacle, the lower part of which edifice was half occupied while the gallery was empty.

Railway Combination.

NEW YORK, Nov 10.—The directors of the Michigan Central [illegible] have approved the proposed freight arrangement between that road and the Lake Shore and Fort Wayne roads which will do away with all opposition in matter of rates. It is generally understood in Wall street that the earnings of the Lake Shore and Michigan Central will be pooled and divided pro rata and that there will be hereafter no attempt to cut rates.

NEW YORK, Nov 10.—The Central Pennsylvania Central Railroad and Baltimore and Ohio railroad companies confirm the agreement between the Fort Wayne, Michigan Central and Lake Shore companies. They are willing to agree upon uniform rates and reduce expenses in the matter of getting business.

A Pressing Invitation to Resign

The petition of stockholders of the Missouri Pacific railway asking the president and directors to resign has the signatures of the controllers of 25,000 shares.

A Wrestling Match

The Greco-Roman wrestling match between Andre Christol and Wm Miller for $600 a side began last evening at 8:30. It was declared a draw at a quarter [illegible] this morning, each contestant having secured one fall.

Failures

NEWARK, N. J., Nov 10.—The private banking firm of A. M. Reynolds & Co. of this city suspended yesterday. It is believed the assets exceed the liabilities. The senior member of the firm has valuable property in this city. The firm hope to resume at an early date.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Geo F Way, a tea jobber, failed yesterday. He refused to make public his assets or liabilities. Jas. Wyckham & Son, commission merchants, made an assignment. Each failure is unimportant.

The Burned Steamer—The Missing Boats Still Unheard of.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov 10.—The Galveston steamer Buck Thorn was dispatched again at 3 o'clock this morning in search of the missing passengers and crew of the City of Waco. She will cruise along the west coast. Captain Sawyer, agent of the Mallory line, also started out on board one of the pilot boats in search of the missing boats. The only hopes for the safety of the passengers and crew are based upon the statement of Capt Servine of the steamer Buck Thorn, who saw her foremast while out yesterday. He reported the end of a mast burned off apparently between decks or very close below the floor on the upper deck, which indicates the fire was below and between decks, in which case she may have been burning some time and given the officers, crew and passengers time to have left the ship before the flames reached the upper deck and was discovered by other vessels. It is thought by many that the passengers and crew may have escaped in the darkness on board the ship's small boats before the fire on board was seen from the steamer Fusiyama and the steamer San Marcos. In this event they would have drifted with the sea about thirty or forty miles westward before the wind changed to the northwest. Another statement which would appear to confirm the location of the fire: The City of Waco had a small wooden case or house built around the foremast where matches etc. were stored. This casing reached upon the mast four feet above the deck; the mast was grained below; it was only painted, while the foremast was evidently burned off below deck. On the upper deck forward large quantities of oil were stored, and as soon as the flames reached this the entire upper portion of the vessel was swept by the flames. The officers of the San Marcos state that the fire was first discovered about 2 o'clock. Nothing was seen wrong with the unfortunate ship until she appeared wrapped in a sheet of flame. Nothing was seen of her boats or passengers and crew.

The return of the pilot boat and steamer outside are anxiously looked for. It is thought they will be in late to night.

Tanners' Convention.

HARRISBURG, Nov 10.—The tanners convention discussed the tanning of upper leather and the use of bark extracts, etc. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That we as tanners and buyers of hides hereby agree to buy hides only according to classification adopted by this convention. This will do away with the evil of cut hides. A committee was appointed to extend an invitation to tanners and dealers throughout the world to meet in the world's convention of tanners at Philadelphia on the second Tuesday of July next.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Vice-President Wilson Stricken with Apoplexy.

WASHINGTON, Nov 10.—Vice-President Wilson was stricken with apoplexy here this forenoon and will probably die.

WASHINGTON, Nov 10.—Wilson's case is exaggerated. He is already much improved.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Wilson was in an apparently comfortable condition, the pain in his head and shoulders having ceased. Although he does not rally as rapidly as desired by his attendant physician, they think according to present symptoms he will recover in the course of a week. There is no indication of paralysis. All necessary arrangements are made for his comfort and treatment in the Vice President's room in the Senate. Among the callers are the Postmaster General, Attorney General, Secretary of the Treasury and ex Congressman Kellogg of Connecticut. C. C. Sniffen, assistant private secretary to the President, hearing of the illness of the Vice President, at once went to the capitol and from there telegraphed to the President at New York. Much sympathy is everywhere expressed.

Vice President Wilson was taken suddenly ill to day about 10 o'clock at the capitol, but at noon he had considerably improved. His physician says he is now in a comfortable condition, that they apprehend no difficulty, and he will be able to be removed to his lodgings this evening.

In reply to a friendly suggestion that the Vice President was overtasking his physical and mental power, he said he had prepared some of the chapters of his work at Saratoga and found on several occasions that he could labor ten hours continually with but slight sense of fatigue, and therefore he felt no alarm as to his health but, on the contrary, considered it re established.

Vice President Wilson was comfortable at midnight though he had been very restless and has slept but little during the night. His physicians are still hopeful, and think by morning there will be a change for the better.

Award of Alabama Claims.

WASHINGTON, Nov 10.—In the court of Alabama claims to day the following judgments were rendered: Case 1,201, Walter Mockwell of San Francisco, for loss of merchandise by the destruction of Tycoon and other vessels, $2,660; case 1,218, D. J. Oliver of San Francisco, for loss of merchandise on Commonwealth, $126 522.

Sanitary Science at the Centennial.

WASHINGTON, Nov 10.—The Secretary of the Interior has appointed Hon. C. C. Cox and D. W. Bliss of Washington, Prof. C. W. Chancellor, Baltimore, Prof. Stephen Smith, New York, Hon. A. W. Boardman, Boston, Dr. J. H. Rauch, Chicago, Dr. A. O. Clendening, Cincinnati, and C. B. White of Louisiana, to serve as commissioners for the purpose of representing the department of Sanitary Science at the Centennial, Philadelphia, in 1876.

Formal pleas in the bogus bail and treasury robbery cases touching the validity of the grand jury were to day submitted to the criminal court, which adopted in each case the verdict of the jury in the Evans case last Friday, which gave judgment for the United States.

A Decision which Creates a Sensation.

CHICAGO, Nov 10.—A Washington special says the decision of the commissioner of the general land office is likely to create a sensation. He devotes much space to the manner in which railroads obtained and used their land grants and especially criticizes what is called the California land ring.

London Money Market.

LONDON, Nov 10.—The demand for money at present is small. There is a probability of good inquiry for loans for a short time in a few days, in consequence of requirements for the fortnightly settlement at the stock exchange. Money is abundant and rates will depend solely upon the character of securities offered.

Stanley at the Sources of the Nile

NEW YORK, Nov 10.—The Herald publishes this morning a telegraphic synopsis of letters received in London from Stanley. He says Livingstone was wrong in reporting that the Victoria Nyanza consisted of five lakes. Speke correctly states that Victoria Nyanza is but one lake, but Speke's two islands are peninsulas. The river Shimee is the principal feeder of the lake and the extremest source of the Nile yet discovered. Stanley [had] several conflicts with slave dealers on the lake. On one occasion he was attacked by 300 natives armed with spears in thirteen canoes, who were repulsed after a severe fight. Three natives were killed. He arrived at Mtesa's hunting camp at Mesara April 1st, where the king directed extraordinary festivities and displays. One feature was a naval review on the lake of 84 canoes, manned by 2,500 men. On the second day, in addition to naval manoeuvres, were races in which 84 canoes were engaged, each propelled by 30 oarsmen. The king led the fleet in person in the presence of a great crowd of onlookers, including the 300 wives of the king. On the third day there was bird shooting and target practice by 300 troops. On the fourth day he returned to [illegible], the capital. The king and all his subjects is a Mussulman; his [illegible] intelligence affords the best augury for the possible civilization of Africa.

THE LOST STEAMER.

Another Survivor Picked Up.

PORT TOWNSEND, Nov 10.—The steamer Goliah is just in from the Cape and brings the gratifying intelligence of the saving of another man from the ill fated steamer Pacific, by the revenue cutter Wolcott, Captain Harwood. This man is the quartermaster, and was found at 3 o'clock on Monday morning 18 miles inside the Cape on the paddle boxes and upper deck of the Pacific, which at one time formed part of the raft on which Mr Jelly was floating. Ten men and one woman were on this raft at one time. The quartermaster only survives. The woman was washed overboard and the chief engineer and first officer jumped over to save her, and both were drowned before they could regain the raft.

Captain Howell was on this raft and only gave out Sunday morning, being at the time the only survivor except this quartermaster. His late therefore is a matter of certainty. The cutter discovered the floating portion of the wreck and set about. On coming into the close vicinity they aroused the man, who was asleep in a box on this raft. The steamer positively collided with a vessel which struck her about amidships on the starboard hand. The steamer California passed in plain sight of this raft, while several were surviving. Other vessels also passed in their vicinity. The two boats did get away from the wreck. The Wolcott has also recovered one or two dead bodies. The Gussie Telfair reports seeing a vessel in distress outside the Cape, with flag union down, bowsprit gone, which was undoubtedly the vessel colliding with the Pacific. The steamer Telfair has recovered three bodies. We hope others will be saved.

SEATTLE, Nov 10.—The Evening Dispatch published the following special to day:

PORT TOWNSEND, Nov 10.—The steamer Goliah returned from Cape Flattery last night and reports that the revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott picked up one of the quartermasters of the steamship Pacific near Pillar point, about thirty miles inside the Cape, on Monday morning at 4 o'clock. The man had been in the water eighty hours. At one time eight persons were with him on the raft, including Captain Howell, the second officer and a lady. They all either died or were washed off and drowned.

Howell died on Sunday, being the last to leave this man. After Capt Howell's death he caught a dry-goods box and floated in that many hours before being picked up. He says the cause of the disaster was that the steamer was struck by a ship just forward of the wheelhouse on the starboard side, cutting her in two. His story is substantially the same as Jelley's.

SEATTLE, W. T., Nov 10.—The steamer North Pacific arrived from Victoria last evening. She brings no additional news of the wreck of the Pacific. The Colonist of yesterday says Mr Jelley is at the Pacific Telegraph Hotel. His limbs are chafed by the action of the waves, but he is recovering his strength rapidly. The revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott left Port Townsend Sunday evening to search for survivors, and the steamer Gussie Telfair was dispatched from Victoria Monday evening on a similar errand.

The following passenger list is published in the Victoria Colonist of yesterday: I Foster, J W Doyle, F H Sullivan, J Kennedy, S Nicholson, William Powell, F Garesche, Miss E Palmer, Mrs Lawson, Mrs Moore, Mrs S T Styles and two children, D C McIntyre, C B Fairbanks, Captain and Mrs Parsons, A B Otway, W J Ferry, F P Johnston, Thomas Smith, J Cochrane, S P Moody, T J Farrel, M Summers, C Summers, J Cahill, John Watson, Ed H. Polley, Wm Tilley, Cal Mandeville, wife and child, R Hudson, H. Climo, E I Atkins, Thomas Beverly, A Layzell, W Waldron, J Len, G Gribbel, Geo Morton, John McCormick, John Sampson, Wm Wills, A Lang, John G Todd, Jas Lenning, P L Chapman, Jas H Webbs, Isaac Webbs, John Parnet, Wm Ammiss, M Wilson, Wm Hurdary, J McLanders, Dock Young, J Fitzgerald, J London, J Chisholm, A Frazer, J S Webster, the Hurlburt & Rockwell troupe, Geo Bird, Ed Shepherd, Frank McLaughlin, Geo Bryson, Wm Campion, Sam'l Nicholson, Wm Lower, Richard Furnbull, John Keonley, Charles Smith, George Herne, A L Ramey, G Journeaux, F Journeaux, F Ernest Meyer, Joseph Haverly and wife, J Thompson, J Creden, P Canty, C N Miles, Adam Foster, Dennis Cain, R Lyons, J Pelletter, Mr and Mrs Keller and child, Miss A Reynolds, and 35 Chinamen, and six Chinamen in the cabin.

The number of persons on board was about 75. The treasure amounted to $78 801 for the banks, and $100 000 in private hands.

USEFUL RECIPES

[From the Scientific American]

Pounded alum will purify water. One teaspoonful of alum to four gallons of water will cause a precipitation of the impurities.

Bee moths can easily be killed in large numbers by setting a pan of grease, in which is a floating ignited wick, near the hives after dark. The moths will fly into the light and fall into the grease.

The best way to catch hawks or owls is to set up a high pole with a steel trap on top. The birds often alight thereon in the trap.

For the protection of iron and steel tools against rust, Vogel recommends a solution of white wax in benzine. The latter liquid will dissolve half its weight of wax. This will preserve the metal even from the action of acid vapors. Apply with a brush.

Round steel wire rope will bear more than double the weight required to break iron rope of similar diameter.

The following rule for strength of iron pipes is based upon the fact that a ten inch pipe one inch thick will stand the pressure of one hundred yards head of water. The coincidence of one inch of metal to every ten inches diameter and one hundred yards pressure should be remembered. For every inch in diameter of pipe increase or deduct 1/10 of an inch, and for every yard of pressure increase or deduct 1/100 of an inch.

In calculating the strength of iron columns the safe plan is to find the diameter of a solid column necessary to bear the compression and then distribute the same area of metal in the form of a hollow column.

A mixture of peroxide of manganese and water glass is recommended to be applied to cooking stoves when they are red hot, as it is said to make good blacking, not as liable to burn off as common black lead.

To make yellow wax into white wax the former is boiled in water, spread out into thin layers and exposed to the light and air. This is repeated until all the color is gone.

Cuttings of many kinds of plants not usually increased with facility by farmers may be rooted easily in a Wardian case in the sitting room.

Pool Selling for the $30,000 Race.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 10.—In the pools for the $30 000 race to night Rutherford was the favorite at the opening at $115; Springbok $110; Wild Idle, $105; field $87 50. Subsequently Springbok sold at $170; Rutherford, $150; Wild Idle $130; field $72 50. Large attendance, pools lively. Weather promising.

The Great Race to Come off Positively, Providence Permitting.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 10.—A J Bryant, President of the Pacific Jockey club, says this afternoon that the great $30 000 race of Saturday next will positively come off, all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, unless prevented by storm. The horses are all in good order. The following well known turfmen have arrived to attend the race: Col D McDaniels, of New Jersey; Jas E. Kelly, of New York city; W R Armstrong, of Detroit; A. S Gage, of Chicago; John Smith, of Cincinnati,—the biggest betting man of the turf in the United States; J E Brewster, of New York city, former owner of Grinstead and Rutherford, who sold them to "Lucky" Baldwin; Geo Barbee, W Donahue, Evans and Oakland noted jockeys will also arrive by to night's train, to ride in the race.

Brutal Treatment of a Seaman.

Capt Niel Doane, of the ship Grangar, recently arrived from New York, was arrested to day on a charge of beating and wounding a seaman who, it is alleged, jumped overboard during the voyage, in consequence of the ill treatment he received. The seaman's name cannot be ascertained. The story told to Assistant District Attorney VanDuzen was rather confused, but he deemed it sufficiently important to prosecute the captain, who, shortly after his arrest, furnished bail in the sum of $1,000 and was released.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Lloyd Bell, an old colored man, on trial in the Fourth district court for the murder of Owen Giller, on the 16th of October, 1873, was found guilty of manslaughter this afternoon, and will be sentenced on Monday next.

Bay District Park Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 10.—At Bay District Park to-day there was a trot for four year olds for $200 each, mile heats, three in five, to harness. Entries—Drew Girl, Young Venture and Tony Gates, the latter the favorite at $60 to $18 for the other two. The first heat was easily won by Gates in 2 41; Venture 2d; Drew Girl rather poor 3d. The second and third heats were also won by Gates in 2 44 and 2 43½, respectively, Venture being drawn after second heat.

The second race was a trot between Gracie and Sybil, for $1 000, two miles and repeat, to harness. Gracie was the favorite at two to one in the pools, and won both heats easily in 5 36 and 6 06.

Next in order was a foot race, nominally for $1,000, between Goff and Cozad, distance 100 yards, which was won by Goff, beating Cozad four feet. Time, ten seconds.

Objections to a Mormon Juror Overruled.

SALT LAKE, Nov 10.—A question was raised in the third district court on Monday as to the competency of James Johnson, a Mormon, to serve as a juryman in the suit of a non Mormon against a Mormon, objection being made that he would be biased in favor of his fellow churchman, also that he would be influenced by the fact that the common council, consisting of Mormons, had appropriated money to defend the case. Many witnesses, among them some leading members of the Mormon church, also a number of apostate Mormons, were examined as to the extent of the influence or counsel brought to bear upon jurymen. Judge Boreman to day overruled the challenge of the juryman, deciding that no evidence had been given showing that Mormon jurymen had in any case been instructed by the church authorities as to the verdict they should give; that although one witness had expressed an opinion that a Mormon would not be an impartial juror where the interests of the church were at stake, and that he believed if a Mormon juror believed Brigham Young wanted a juryman to take a given course that would be the direction he would take, independent of his own convictions, there was no evidence that this had been done or that the juryman objected to was under any influence outside the court.

BURIED ALIVE.

Liwin Wyndham Laury writes to Colonel H S Olcott as follows of what he saw some years ago in the Rhajute of Puttiala: On a certain day the Baboo having called his friends together in durbar or council, they came from all parts on elephants, camels and and horses to witness the show. The divan of the Baboo was in the center of a circle, while all the greater and lesser magnates sat around enjoying their hookahs, and elated with the noise of the tum tum wallahs and the excitement of the nautch dancers which were preliminary to the main object of the exhibition. Near the center of the circle a grave, zealously guarded, some five or six feet deep had been prepared, and by it a coffin was placed. In due time the blowing of trumpets and the soundings of gongs announced the advent of Meechum Doss. He was dressed as magicians usually are in the East, very plainly but very well, a middle aged man in fine linen, who looked as if he fared sumptuously every day, though curried rice eaten with the fingers was doubtless his only food. He descended from the gayly caparisoned elephant on which he had traveled, and made many gracious salaams to the assembled crowd. Having invited a full inspection of himself, the coffin and grave, he proceeded to perform various incantations by the aid of a fire which he kindled, and into which he threw what appeared to be aromatic spices. He then spread over himself a garment on which he pronounced magical words.

All this time a committee of which I was a member, appointed for the purpose by the Baboo, was watching his moves very closely. At length, after various turns and twists of his body, which were sometimes very violent, he appeared to lapse into a rigid state, with his eye and mouth closed, after which he fell back into the arms of an attendant Mephistopheles who accompanied him. He was now placed in the coffin, which was securely closed and sealed. Then commenced the process of lowering the casket some five feet, which was done in a manner that would have excited the envy of New York undertakers. The hole was filled up and well battened down, guard is provided by Baboo Lall Chunder being placed over it.

After the interment notice was given that exhumation would take place four weeks thereafter, at which all were invited to be present. The tum tum wallahs and nautch girls resumed their operations and noise, and the immense crowd dispersed in a very orderly manner on the camels, elephants and horses.

At the time appointed I was again present when the same mystery ceremonies were enacted as at the burying, and everything was as before, except that the people looked solemn and talked in whispers, wondering among themselves whether necromancy could make the grave give back her dead.

The sentries who had kept guard and watch were paraded and testified that they had done so faithfully for four weeks. The grave was then dug into until the coffin was reached.

Everything was found in order outside, and upon the coffin being raised the seals, which were of metal, were found untouched. The box was opened, and there reclined Meechum Doss looking tranquil. He was taken out. His body and face presented the chilliness and rigidity of death, but there were no signs of decomposition. According to orders given by him to his family before burial, he was well shampooed from head to foot and given some decoction to swallow upon returning animation, which occurred in a very short space of time. External heat appearing, the limbs became gradually relaxed, and the opening of the eyes, which had a sort of somnolent appearance, followed.

Shortly after the elixir had been given him he stood up in his right mind and salaamed the committee and those around him. When asked how he felt, and where he had been to, he said that Bramah was good, and that he had enjoyed close fellowship with their Godships Bramah and Vishnu in the bosom of the sacred rivers and on the tops of the mountains.

This was highly satisfactory to the spectators, who began to congratulate themselves that no coroner's inquest was necessary, while others of a more devotional turn would no doubt have consented to be buried alive forthwith if they could but have been sure of enjoying the same distinguished privilege.

The crowd were now loud in their vociferations, some calling on Mohammed and Allah, others on Bramah, Vishnu and Calle and all the calendar of Hindo deities, which by the way, is by no means so large as another calendar of canonized saints that we know of.

Meechum Doss was now escorted in triumph before the assembled crowd, and the noise on all hands was something terrific. The magician made many salaams and frequently embraced the attendant.

Baboo Lall Chunder then caused sweetments and pipes to be sent around, while the magician was seated upon a special divan prepared for him. His handsome buckshish or present was presented to him with much ceremony, after which a herald declared the games closed. The multitude which had been seated on the ground, tailor fashion, now rose as one man and salaamed to the wonderful necromancer, and then to their host, Baboo Lall Chunder, who took delight in providing entertainments of no ordinary character for the people. Thus ended a most astonishing exhibition. I believe that everything was conducted in a fair and square manner, but of course, as I was not present the whole time of the entertainment, I cannot bear absolute testimony that Meechum Doss was not taken up during the time and resuscitated.

I give you the matter as I saw it occur, and it may at all events be pleasing to some to hear of the way in which the Easterns amuse their friends, and what the Magi, even in these latter days, can accomplish.

STOP BORROWING

Few people appreciate even yet the severe lesson of the panic of 1873. That lesson has rigid and uncompromising in the word economize. A people often show the traits of childhood, and one of these traits often reproduced in human societies is impatience or an inability to understand that the want of a thing is not the sole sufficient reason for having it. American enterprise is closely allied to this distempered reason of childhood. It has pervaded our society, carried the scale of family expenditure beyond income, and instigated public expenditure on an unprecedented scale and altogether beyond the tax produced income. Everything and everybody is mortgaged. A whole generation must spend its labor to lift these mortgages, or we must rush on ruin by maintaining, in the face of terribly ominous warnings, a scale of private and public expenditure out of just relations to our incomes.

As a rule the lesson has been learned thus far only as it came in the hard commands of necessity. People and corporations who have exhausted their power of borrowing have ceased to spend profusely. The people and corporations who still have credit are going on living upon that fat future in which we instinctively believe. Since 1873 amazing as such facts are, New York and nearly every other great city has increased their debts without decreasing their taxes, and with property running down under this general load at a fearful rate of decline; this first mortgage of public indebtedness increases from year to year. And if we ask ourselves why property cheapens though it has lost none of its intrinsic value, even those who would wish to buy it cheap scarcely realize what is the matter. Our maxims shy around the fast-rooted fact that the public demands upon property are greater than it can bear.

That no man can afford to own unimproved property in New York is an opinion often expressed without the speaker's so much as suspecting the reason, which is simply that taxation has killed its fertility. Equally common is the opinion that improved property mortgaged for half its value will ruin its owner, but it is not stated that the public claims have killed the fertility of the unmortgaged half. What is true of New York is true of half the towns, great and small, over the whole of the Union. Public taxation has reached a point where the owners begin to sink into insolvency because they are owners. And if we ask why the taxation goes on and increases, we must answer that the public is like a spoiled child that orders what it wants regardless of the payment of the bills. We want our public improvements; hurry them up ye public waiters; posterity will settle for them. Fortunately for us the generations to come will be saved from utter despair by the beneficent severity of natural laws. One by one the towns that are governed by infantile caprice are being brought to book by the wholesome checks of economic laws. The depressed property fails to pay, and the insatiable rate per cent, refuses to take any more mortgages. We have so little confidence in the national capacity for retrenchment that we are beginning to think the general inability to borrow our only salvation. As long as bonds can be sold New York will send bonds to market, as long as taxes can be collected taxes will increase in New York, and the greater part of the nation will follow our example.

The absolute need of retrenchment in public expenses is forcibly illustrated by the fact that our total taxation of all sorts is seven hundred and forty five millions a year, and our total exports amount to only six hundred and forty three millions. So that all we sell to foreign nations lacks more than a hundred millions of paying our tax bills.

Retrenchment has been abundantly preached for two years. But who has retrenched? In what considerable town have there been neither increased taxes nor new bonds sold? There may be a rare case, but wherever the power to collect taxes and the power to borrow money remain in vigor, one or both powers is being employed to provide what the town absolutely needs and posterity will gladly pay for. It is noticeable that in contracting these obligations we always assume an extraordinary cheerfulness in the posterity that will pay our debts; at this point we expect them to be much better than ourselves.

You complain of the depreciation of property. Why do you not stop burdening property? You compel it to depreciate, and seem amazed at the direct consequences of your acts. Property is instinctively wiser than you, and knowing that every bond and tax must be paid to the uttermost farthing, and knowing that you will continue to pile on as long as [illegible] get anything [illegible] with it, [illegible] until the load breaks its back. The investor, of course, it is the buyer who instinctively reckons up the mortgage and calculates the tax and finds no inducement to buy.

It is a trick of our subtlety and self-imposition to charge the overloading to this or that party. It is a national besetment rather it belongs to the age we live in. The capacity to borrow is a fruit of a high civilization, and we are taking one of our lessons in the necessity of borrowing with discretion, or rather we are refusing to take the lesson and preparing to have it whipped into us. In part the evil illustrates a weak side of our Democratic organization. The votes of non owners count as fast as those of owners, and under the delusion that the outlay of money borrowed of posterity will promote the welfare of laborers, and of the less rich generally, the non-owners always vote for "enterprise." The fact might be called a communistic phase of our life. But calling it so would cure nothing, and in the end it is the poor whose all is swept away by the after flood of extravagance. The public labor is realized, indeed, but the private enterprise that perpetually feeds the laboring classes is killed when taxation has robbed such enterprise of all hope of reward.

The lesson is not a pleasant one. There must be an end of public borrowing; if we are wise enough to make an end of it we may even yet survive our fearfully crushing tasks; if we are not in such measure wise, we shall stop borrowing in a general insolvency. There are reckless people who wish to hasten this result and to add to it the dishonor of general repudiation. For it is in the nature of things that the reckless borrower should turn out to be the not less reckless repudiator of honest debts.—The Methodist

OREGON.

Two hunters killed ten deer in one day recently, near LaGrande.

The rainfall at Jacksonville during the past two weeks was [illegible] inches.

A temporary wharf built at Port Orford was broken down by the heavy swells which rolled in there last week.

The mate of the schooner Parallel was lost overboard as she crossed the Coos bay bar last week and was drowned. We did not learn his name.

A small bridge on the line of the Oregon & California stage road, near Bybee's, in Jackson county, was washed away during the heavy rains of last week.

Pence's wharf, at Empire City, was completely wrecked last week by a scow, belonging to Luse. The scow got adrift, and was driven through the wharf.

The Coos County Record says: "As John Mumford was sawing a log near Sumner, on Tuesday last the log fell on a limb, which struck him on the leg with such violence as to break both bones a little below the knee."

At the town election held at Ashland on the 1st instant, Wesley Mitchell, A D Helman, Isaac Miller, F W Ewing, and J. M. McCall were elected trustees; L. A. Neil, marshal; B. F. Reeser, treasurer, and C. K. Klum, recorder.

There is a little bit of a war in Coos county about newspapers. The Record was recently moved from Marshfield to Empire City, and the war is made by the Marshfielders on the Record, and they have raised $300 to start an opposition paper in their town.

A young boy, the son of Mr. Davis, of Isthmus slough, Coos county, accidentally shot himself on Thursday of last week. The whole charge of shot passed through his body. He was alive at last accounts, but was momentarily expected to die.

Tygh valley is one of the oldest settlements in Eastern Oregon. It is situated at the base of the Cascade range, and is traversed by the old emigrant road leading to Portland. The stock range is unexcelled, and as a grain country it is on an average with the rest of Oregon. A fine new grist mill has been erected there this summer.

The Sentinel says: Rev J. S McCain and B. F Dowell were out last week in the mountains southeast of Jacksonville hunting specimens to send to the centennial and to the most important colleges in the Eastern States, and Mr Dowell broke open a round boulder and found an ammonite about 4 inches in diameter imbedded in the center of the boulder.

The board of state capitol commissioners held a regular monthly meeting at Salem last Tuesday, at which considerable business was transacted. An award was made of glass contract to Hodge, Calef & Co., of Portland, for $1,821. This is for the glass needed for the new capitol building and to be delivered by the first of January next. Some accounts were audited and other items of business transacted.

Mr Sheldon, who resides on the prairie a couple of miles east of Salem, has just lost a valuable horse by a disease which closely resembles the epizootic, which prevailed to such a large extent throughout the country a few years since. One of Dr. Payton's horses, which was on Mr Sheldon's farm, contracted the disease and came near dying. Mr Sheldon's other horses have been very sick, but are now recovering.

The LaGrande Sentinel says: "Some time ago we noticed that the Grangers, in council had established the price of grain in this county, placing wheat at one cent and oats at 1¼ cents per pound. At that time we expressed our doubts as to the ability of the organization to succeed in establishing these prices. We have given the matter some attention, and are pleased to note the fact that our merchants, and all who are dealing in grain, have adopted the prices established by our granger friends."

The Mercury says: "The farmers on Salem prairie and throughout the Waldo hills are just starting in on their fall plowing, and the ground is now in good condition to be worked. As yet but little sowing seems to have been done on summer fallowed land, but where the seed has been put in has come up well and gives promise of an abundant crop next year. The present weather is very uncertain, but if the clouds will only keep their flood gates closed for a few weeks our farmers will have their fall plowing and sowing all done."

The citizens of Eugene were thrown into a state of great excitement on Monday morning by the news that on the night previous the dwelling of Rev. I. Wilson had been entered by a burglar, who held a pistol to the head of that gentleman and robbed him of his watch and eight dollars in coin. The robber was a bold one, as there was a light burning in the room at the time. When the citizens began to compare notes it was found that Mr Becker, a butcher, had had $69 75 abstracted from under his pillow the Saturday night previous while asleep. The house of Mrs Hatchett had also been gone through on Sunday during the absence of the inmates and robbed of a few trifling articles. The house of a Mr Sloan was also robbed of a watch. The same person, it is supposed, tried to effect an entrance into the houses of S. Friendly and S W Walton, but failed in the attempt.

THE TERRITORIES

Seattle has one whisky shop to each ninety inhabitants.

The school house at Tacoma was burned to the ground on last Tuesday morning.

The Idaho Territorial treasurer received $13,711 11 during the quarter ending October 31.

The baby of Mrs A. W. Menefee took the first premium at the late fair at Walla Walla.

The South Chariot mine in Idaho is looking up and the superintendent thinks he can turn out $15 000 worth of bullion monthly.

The Walla Walla Union of last week says if the good weather continues there will be a larger fall crop sowed in that valley than ever before.

One of the Renton company's barges, loaded with seventy five tons of coal, sank alongside of the steamer on Wednesday night at the boom up the Duwamish river. Half her load was lost before the scow could be raised.

The proprietor of the Walla Walla trotting park and fair grounds has arranged for a series of trotting and running races to come off the last week in November and first week in December. The purses offered are liberal.

The Arizona Citizen says there is in that Territory a fiend named Sheridan, who makes it a business to entice others to go into the mountains with him upon the pretence of showing them rich mines, and that it is seldom that persons so enticed are ever heard from afterward. It is said the diabolical wretch has lured away and murdered eight victims within the past year. Governor Safford offers a reward of $500 for his arrest and conviction—rather a small reward, it seems to us, considering the enormity of the crime.

A letter in the Seattle Tribune says: "About the mouth of the Stilaguamish river there are large salt marshes which have been partially reclaimed. There are some excellent claims on them that can be bought on very reasonable terms. The river bottom for about four miles from the mouth is heavily timbered with spruce, cedar, vine maple and alder. Above that point the spruce disappears and cottonwood takes its place but does not grow large, and the clearing is generally much lighter. Mr Shoecraft, who has been surveying a township in range 5 east, and who has still another contract, tells me that there is more good agricultural land in the Stilaguamish valley than he has ever seen in one body elsewhere in Western Washington Territory. Mr. Iverson, an emigration agent from Illinois, who accompanied Mr. Shoecraft on one trip up the river, says that he has found the place he has been looking for. He wants land for 200 families, and it is to be had on the Stilaguamish. Mr. Iverson has now gone to Steilacoom to meet some twenty families who are coming on this fall. The others will follow next spring and summer."

THURSDAY MORNING NOV 11 1875

FURTHER NEWS FROM THE WRECK

We give this morning additional facts concerning the wreck of the Pacific as obtained from the second and probably only other survivor and from other sources.

It appears now the wreck of the Pacific was caused by a collision with a sailing vessel. Where she was when she was run into is not stated, but it may be inferred she was outside the straits, as it is not likely the wreck would have floated so long inside with a number of persons still upon it without being observed. There are at all times except in very rough weather small boats on the strait and other vessels are constantly passing to and fro inside.

The Strait of Fuca is about 10 miles wide at the point where it connects with the sea, and varies from 12 to 15 miles in width for some 40 miles up from its mouth. Still further up are the entrance to Puget Sound on the south and the channels leading to the Gulf of Georgia on the north. The sea, especially at this season of the year, carries everything floating upon its surface to the shore or up the strait. During the eighty hours from the collision Thursday night to the picking up of this last survivor on Monday morning the wreck might have been carried into the strait, though the disaster occurred some distance out at sea.

When the California passed down her officers saw pieces of the upper works of the wrecked steamer floating. Some persons have criticised these officers for not immediately putting about, and instituting search for the vessel from which these fragments must have come. We understand, however that the pieces observed by them were such as would excite no probability of a case requiring assistance, and that Captain Hayes supposed that they were merely some of the upper works and rigging that had been carried away in a squall as frequently occurs.

The vessel seen by the Telfair outside with her flag of distress set, was doubtless the vessel which struck the Pacific. It seems strange the Telfair did not go to her relief, and ascertain the facts. As there are three steamers out searching, we shall probably hear to-day what vessel this was, and whether any of the unfortunate passengers or crew of the Pacific were picked up by her. It is barely possible some may have been saved in that way, though the chances are much against it, as the darkness and the unavoidable confusion incident to such a casualty would conspire to prevent the success of any effort made to save those on board the sinking steamer.

We notice that the passenger list published in the Colonist, and which will be found in our telegraphic columns, differs somewhat from that heretofore given. It contains quite a number of names not in the former list, and leaves out one or two which were contained in that list. If, however, there were 275 persons on board, as stated by the latest dispatches, it is evident none of the lists contain the full number of passengers. Besides the ship's company and the passengers whose names are reported, there must have been a hundred others, or else the statement of the aggregate number on board is that much too large.

IN THE MATTER OF THE POWERS

"The Powers" have manifested a very humane interest in the welfare of the Turkish government for a long time and especially since the breaking out of the insurrection in the European provinces of the Sublime Porte. "The Powers" are generally regarded as exceedingly christian, and it would naturally be expected that they would sympathize with twelve million disfranchised christians engaged in a struggle to free themselves from the tyrannous rule of three million privileged pagans. But somehow they do not. We have not the slightest doubt that the people who compose "The Powers" would donate liberally of hymn books and testaments for the enlightenment of the pagans who oppress the Slavonic christians, and that would be a good thing to do. It would not cost much. It might not go so far toward christianizing Western Europe as the establishment of a christian nation where a few turbaned Mohammedans now oppress and suppress everything that is not Mohammedan; but it would not cost much.

That the secret of the opposition of "The Powers" to the success of the christian revolt, is bottomed solely upon pecuniary considerations, is evident from the speech made by Mr Disraeli, first man in "The Powers" at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London Tuesday night. That was the burden and refrain of his remarks. After complimenting Mr Wade for his grand success in making the Emperor of China say it was wrong for some of his subjects to murder an Englishman, Mr Disraeli said:

> I wish I could say foreign affairs nearer home were as satisfactory as our relations with China. The partial revolt in Turkey has produced a state of things such as often becomes critical. The forbearance of the great powers immediately interested produced an effect such as some months ago gave us the right to believe the disturbance would cease immediately. Since then a financial catastrophe has revived the struggle, and given a new aspect to the circumstances. It is impossible to deny they are critical, but I still have great confidence in the forbearance of the powers. I have not merely trust but conviction, that means will be found to bring about a satisfactory result, consistent with the maintenance of the peace of Europe. I will not contemplate any other result. The interests of the imperial powers in reference to the question are more direct but it is more considerable than those of Great Britain. The men who have charge of our affairs are deeply conscious of the magnitude of our interests which they are resolved to guard and maintain.

THE RECORD UNION ON THE INDIAN QUESTION

The recent trouble with the Temecula Indians of Southern California, gives occasion to the Sacramento Record Union to say in reply to criticisms of its course by a correspondent:

> In treating upon this matter we have made no attempt to cast any romantic halo about the Mission Indians. We are tolerably familiar with the Indian character, whether it be northern or southern and are not in danger of falling into errors of sentimentalism. But we are quite as well acquainted with the character of the white men who commonly rail most against the Indians, and who habitually regard them as a good deal below cattle in the scale of existence, and we do not, therefore tend toward the opposite blunder—of taking for granted all that is said against the nomads. What we do, however insist upon, as the kernel of this whole business is the assured fact that the Indians have been most abominably treated by the government and that their rights (the existence of which in equity if not in law we unhesitatingly affirm) have been persistently ignored by all who have had any thing to do with them. We are satisfied that the reports of several successive government commissioners and agents are at least as trustworthy as the statements of local papers.

The Record Union puts the case exactly right. It is a noteworthy fact that whenever an investigation has been had into the origin of Indian troubles except in the cases of those Indians classed as wild, the report has been to the effect that the Indians were sinned against as well as sinning, if not more than sinning. Commissioners appointed to investigate charges of corruption against the agents of the Government may be suspected of bias in favor of the persons accused, as a report against them is regarded as a reflection on the Government. We doubt not this presumption, in a majority of cases, is allowed to have undue weight in the public mind, but admitting that the reports of such investigations are in general to be taken with much allowance on this score, it is not apparent that any influence of that kind is likely to operate in favor of the Indians in investigations of the causes of difficulty between them and the whites. Whatever is to be allowed in such cases for bias, must be allowed in favor of the Indians, as the bias is naturally against them. No person who has had such opportunities for becoming acquainted with Indian character as most of the early settlers of the Pacific coast have had, is likely to be carried away with the sentimental notions of the "noble red man," which are inculcated by Cooper's novels but on the other hand those who have studied the subject most are, of all classes of Western people, most inclined to recognize the obligations of the government to pursue a humane policy toward the Indians.

Eighty hours in the water upon a raft that only served to keep him from going to the bottom but amounted to nothing as a protection against the weather and the waves—such is the experience of the last survivor of the ill fated Pacific. And during a large part of that eighty hours a storm of wind and rain was raging and the sea was lashed to fury. No wonder that only one of the eight or ten companions on the wreck was left at the end of the time. The wonder is that one should have survived. Those brave men who leaped from their wretched raft into the waves to save the woman when she was washed overboard, and went to eternity with her in all human probability only hastened the end and shortened their sufferings a few hours by the heroic deed.

And thus does the Cincinnati Gazette, one of the leading Republican papers of the West, talk of the appointment of Chandler: "One thing is certain, the President has hung a heavy weight around his own neck and the Republican party should indignantly refuse to share the burden. He who is solely responsible must bear it alone."

The Chicago Tribune denounces in unmeasured terms the levying of assessments on officers for political purposes. All honest people, of all parties, agree that these assessments are as oppressive upon the individuals assessed as they are corrupt in their purpose and tendency.

The New Haven Register maliciously accounts for the appointment of Zach Chandler as Secretary of the Interior, on the ground that he is an ardent third term advocate and a jolly good friend of Boss Shepherd.

"ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?"

GILROY, March 1 1875

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN. In an experience of three years with the Averill Chemical Paint more than one half the jobs have chalked peeled or cracked off notwithstanding the Paint was warranted to do neither and out of sixteen failures the California Chemical Paint Company have refused to furnish paint to repaint but six of the sixteen. I refer to the following houses that have cracked peeled and chalked off in this place. James Casey, H C Morey M D, Thomas Darrough, E J Bryant, F H Farmer, Frank Oldham, F H Trickey, G Woodward, Thomas Rea, P Ball, D Whitney, William Wilson, J M Fimfrock, J R Hitchcock, J A Baxter, Music Hall, Catholic Church and I might mention many more

J B RHINEHART Painter

23 Post St. San Francisco Sept 11 1874

To Proprietors Chemical Paint Company—Gents: I had my house in Oakland painted with your paint. It was warranted to be good and satisfactory in every respect. I was obliged to have the third coat put on to make it look as if it had been really painted and even then I think one good coat of Lead Paint would have given the house a better appearance. I think you ought to make up to me the loss I sustained besides the annoyance I felt knowing that an inferior article had been put on when a No 1 article had been promised. Hoping to hear from you soon on the subject I remain

Yours resp'y DR HENRY KNOX
Dentist 23 Post street San Francisco

GILROY Sept 4 1875

To whom it may concern: Seeing in various papers that the California Chemical Paint Company continue to deceive people by saying that the Averill paint will neither peel crack nor chalk off I deem it my duty to say that my house painted with the above named paint in the fall of 1873 failed in less than eighteen months after being painted by peeling cracking and chalking off in the worst manner imaginable. I also observe that the company have my name in their printed matter as reference. This was done without my knowledge or consent

E J BRYANT

GILROY March 1875

To whom it may concern: My house painted with the Averill Chemical Paint in June, 1873 failed in a little over one year after being painted by chalking peeling wasting and changing color, some light color some dark. The California Chemical Paint Company are knowing to this and yet continue to deceive the public by saying that the Averill Paint will not peel, crack nor chalk.

THOMAS DARROUGH.

GILROY, Sept 4 1875

To whom it may concern: My house painted with the Averill Chemical Paint manufactured by the California Chemical Paint Company of San Francisco about two years ago, failed in less than one year after it was painted by chalking off and changing color and I had a portion of it repainted.

J B TRICKEY

GILROY Sept. 4 1875

To whom it may concern: I had my fence painted in the fall of 1873 with the Averill Chemical Paint which was represented not to chalk, peel or crack off but it chalked off in three months after it was painted

Then Use the "Rubber Paint,"
The Best Paint in the World.

SAN JOSE, Cal March 20 1875

Pacific Rubber Paint Company San Francisco—Gentlemen: I have used and sold the Rubber Paint in this city during the last four years. We have about one hundred buildings painted with the Rubber Paint. Among the prominent ones are the State Normal School, Gates Institute, City Market, the residence of Josiah Belden, J W Hinds, President Gold Note Bank, J R Arguello, Santa Clara, etc. It has never failed to give satisfaction, with a test of from one to four years so that its durability has been well tested. My sales last year were nearly five thousand gallons.

Truly yours AMASA EATON

OAKLAND Cal, March 2 1875

Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gents: My residence painted with the Rubber Paint about eight months ago [illegible] far has proved all you claim for it. It is as [illegible] and beautiful as when finished.

Yours etc., S WALLACE EVERSON

SAN FRANCISCO March 22 1875

Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gentlemen: I have used your Rubber Paint on my yacht thus far the action of the water has had no effect upon it so far. As my experience goes the Rubber Paint is the best paint I ever used for painting vessels especially in salt water. It adheres firmly to the wood does not peel, and retains its gloss.

CAPT EDWIN MOODY

Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gents: We the undersigned interested parties in the Odd Fellows Hall of this place feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to say to you that we are highly pleased not only with the appearance of the Rubber Paint on our hall but think it at least twenty per cent cheaper than any paint we could have used and we also recommend it to all as superior to any other paint as regards its covering and spreading qualities.

SALEM Oregon July 9 1875

Pacific Rubber Paint Company—Gents: After a careful and accurate test gallon for gallon of Atlantic Lead and Linseed Oil and the Rubber Paint of your manufacture and the Averill Chemical Paint I find the Rubber Paint to cover more surface—two coat work—to the gallon than Lead and Oil Paint and twenty per cent more than the Averill Chemical Paint.

CITY.

ST ANDREW'S SOCIETY There was quite a representative gathering at the annual meeting of this society held at their rooms on Tuesday evening The modest little thistle painted on the door became prickly as with native life as the blue bonnets came trooping over the threshold Nearly every part of the historic little kingdom had a delegate each shire from Maidenkirk to John o'Groat's had a voice in the meeting and Lowland Scotch and the Gaelic of the Isles men were heard in the room American and colonial Scotsmen were also well represented Donald Mackay was unanimously chosen as president, and the other offices were filled as follows A Meachen and John H Honeyman vice presidents, Robert Collier, secretary W Honeyman assistant secretary Peter Taylor, treasurer A L Lindsley D D chaplain Dr Gleeson physician J Meikison librarian The officers elect will be installed on St Andrew's day—the 30th—and in the evening the chiefs, like dunnie wassal, and invited guests will sit down to an anniversary banquet for which arrangements are now being made.

ROOF OF BELL TOWER.—We have conversed with the members of the committee on fire and water in regard to the condition of the roof of the bell tower mention of which was made in yesterday's issue Lest the remarks made might reflect unjustly on the members of the committee, we will state that they have discharged their duty so far as the action rendered necessary by the authorization was concerned. Last Friday morning Mr J H Lyon chairman of the committee on fire and water, gave an order at one of the tin shops of the city to have the roof put on at once Since then the weather has been unsettled, and the workmen have not ventured to commence putting the tin down Mr Lyon informs us that he has called at the shop several times and urged the foreman to have the repairs made without delay but as yet nothing has been done. While the roof remains in its present leaky condition some action ought to be taken immediately to place a temporary shelter over the striking apparatus until the work so much required could be accomplished

OREGON COLONY.—Rev. Mr. Parkhurst, the leader of a colony from the Atlantic States, which arrived here on the steamer Ajax Tuesday evening, while crossing the continent fell sick at Ogden with a malignant attack of typhoid fever and was compelled to be left behind. The colony consists of about 97 persons. Most of the members of the colony came from the old Keystone State but some hail from New York and Wisconsin They reached here in safety and started up the Columbia river yesterday morning, bound for Hood river, where they expect to permanently settle We understand that about 200 persons propose to leave next spring for Oregon and they propose settling up the entire valley of Hood river Success attend them Oregon needs just such acquisitions to her population

ANOTHER VICTIM.—Among the additional names furnished yesterday of the passengers which sailed from Victoria on the steamer Pacific we observe the name of George Bird This is undoubtedly Mr Bird the actor, who was in the city only last week and appeared at New Market Theater in connection with Mrs Phelps company Mr. Bird left Portland with the other members of the troupe for Victoria. There is little doubt but what he took passage on the unfortunate vessel and was lost The name of George Herne also appears among the additional list furnished, and there is an impression here that it was the well known actor, Mr. James A Herne, who was known to be at Victoria when the Pacific sailed from there. As the initials are not the same we are inclined to believe that it is another person

A HUGE CABBAGE.—Mr J F Chipman, who resides in Clatsop county brought to this city last Saturday, a huge cabbage head which can be seen by the curious at the store of G O Bailey, corner of B and Second streets It grew on the bottom land on the Nekanikum river, half a mile above the Seaside house, on the ranch of Fred Bearman Mr. Chipman thinks it would have weighed full 45 pounds as it came from the garden, He found it impossible to get a sack large enough to receive it without removing thirteen of the outside leaves, and then crush and bruise three more leaves that he has since removed The head still weighs 33½ pounds and measures 55 inches in circumference. It is as symmetrical and smooth as though turned in a lathe.

PET DEER RETURNED.—A friend residing at the O & C. R. R. Co's car shops sends us the following A pet deer that was raised here from a fawn went off about three months ago We heard it was seen several times about a mile south of here, and also south of Milwaukie station. There have been several deer killed near here by the hunters, with hounds and we supposed it had been killed, but yesterday it made its appearance and seemed very glad to get back again It has a splendid coat of hair now and is very fat. When it left here the hair was burnt off its sides by getting too near the stove, and it was very poor A red flannel collar around its neck saved its life several times, as we have since heard

QUARTZ DISCOVERY.—A gentleman who has just arrived in the city gives information that a party of prospectors have found a quartz lode on the headwaters of the Santiam, which measures three feet in width The rock is of a dark blue color, and is thought to be rich in silver and if this is established, it is one of the largest and most valuable ledges yet discovered in Oregon As soon as the ledge is more thoroughly developed, specimens of the quartz will be brought to this city for assay.

SETTLED IN SEATTLE.—Philip O Eastwick, formerly of this city but late engineer of the N P R. R, has recently established himself in Seattle During his connection with the railroad he proved himself an expert in his profession, and rendered valuable services in exploring and reporting their Puyallup coal interests. Mr Eastwick's long experience in Pennsylvania coal mining makes him a valuable man to our coast in its coal enterprises

HELD TO ANSWER.—A preliminary examination was held yesterday before Justice Bybee in the cases of State vs. W K Ish and State vs. J H King each charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. After hearing the testimony in the cases the court held the defendants to appear before the grand jury each in the sum of $500 Bonds were furnished and the defendants were released

LIVING IN CANADA.—A gentleman residing in Springfield, Mass, writing under date of October 29th, says 'The Rev M O Reilly formerly of Oregon, still later of this city, to whom you send your paper is at present a professor in the college of Three Rivers Canada. I am sure he would be delighted to get your paper, as he takes a great interest in your western affairs '

BOUND OVER.—In police court yesterday morning two Chinamen Ah Chan and Ah Fung were arraigned on a charge of larceny and held to await the action of the grand jury each in the sum of $300 The Johns were not able to meet such pecuniary obligations and were accordingly committed to the county jail for safe keeping

MAGICIAN COMING.—We understand that at the termination of his engagement at San Francisco Hermann the Wizard will visit this city on a professional tour Hermann enjoys the reputation of being one of the best magicians who has ever visited the Pacific coast.

The gentleman of leisure always dresses in the latest fashion and is anxious to have the best. Fishel & Roberts have, in their employ the best cutter in the city. Their stock of ready made clothing is very large

The following communication was read from Gen Michler

PORTLAND Ogn Oct 21 1875

Mr William Reid—SIR Your communication of the 14th inst in regard to the range lights at St Helens on the Columbia river has been received and in reply I beg leave to furnish your Board with the following information desired by you and which will explain the action already taken by this office in the matter Let me premise by stating that the present range lights were authorized to be placed in position as a temporary arrangement only during the period of operations of the government dredger in that vicinity and it was so understood by the river pilots The material was furnished from the dredger and the man employed to take charge of them was borne on the same pay rolls The lights were then as much protection to the boat as if suspended from her derrick When the dredger was moved up to the mouth of the Willamette to commence work on the bar it was deemed advisable to make other arrangements In the first place, there was no special appropriation for the purpose of maintaining the lights and in the second place there was no longer any person to see that the keeper attended to his duty The pilots complained that he neglected it and it was subsequently so reported to me by the engineer of the dredger His attention was immediately called to the matter and he was admonished respecting his dereliction of duty Fully appreciating the importance to shipping by the continued exhibition of the lights, a telegram was immediately dispatched to the Lighthouse Board of which the following is the text

PORTLAND Sept 16 1875

To the Chairman of the Lighthouse Board Washington D C Authority requested to purchase suitable lamps and employ keeper at small salary to replace those temporarily used as range lights at St Helens Bar during operations of dredger now ordered to different locality N MICHLER

By instructions from the board estimates looking to the establishment of a set of range lights for crossing St Helens Bar were submitted in connection with my annual report for the fiscal year ending the 30th of June 1875. After consulting with the inspector of the district as to their proper location it was decided to select the same sites as those previously used for temporary lights during the operations of the dredger under my charge The following reply to the telegram was received

WASHINGTON Sept 17 1875

SIR—Referring to your telegram of September 16th relative to the purchase of range lights and employment of keeper at St Helens bar I have to say that range lights cannot be placed there until congress makes an appropriation therefor, and authorizes the establishment of the range lights in question

Very respectfully

(Signed) PETER C HAINS
Engineer Secretary

In view of the above facts I would respectfully suggest that the board of trade devise some means by which the range lights can be maintained until some action is taken by congress I have no appropriation from which to meet the expense, however trivial The great gain to shipping either in ascending or descending by any one ocean steamer or sailing vessel will be sufficient compensation to remunerate the shippers for the small outlay required until congress sees fit to act in the matter

I most respectfully and earnestly urge the early attention to this subject on the part of the board as it will be necessary for me to remove the government lights for the reasons already stated They will be as they are now, maintained for a brief period whilst awaiting your favorable action

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
N MICHLER
Major of Engineers Bvt. Brig Gen U S A

RESOLUTIONS.

In response to the above communication Mr H C Leonard offered the following resolutions, which on motion were unanimously adopted

Resolved, That as the government's expenditure for sustaining range lights at St Helens bar has been withdrawn and it is essential to sustain these lights during our shipping season and winter months for the benefit of steam and sailing vessels proceeding up and down the river to Portland, the treasurer be and he hereby is authorized to pay a sum not exceeding twenty dollars per month for four months as this board's contribution toward sustaining said range lights in accordance with Gen Michler's recommendations

Resolved That the president and secretary petition the lighthouse board, representing the necessity of permanent lights being kept up at St Helens, and show them that this board and others in consequence of the government's expenditure being withdrawn had to keep up these lights as the urgent demands of shipping and commerce require that they be continued and suggest to the lighthouse board to ask congress to grant an appropriation therefor also that our senators and representative be asked to give this matter their attention

The following letter was read and on motion of Mr Leonard a vote of thanks was tendered the O S N Co for the generous proposal contained therein

PORTLAND Nov 10 1875

Wm Reid Esq Portland—DEAR SIR In reply to yours of this date this company will pay half the cost per month for keeping the range lights at St Helens bar at a cost not to exceed $35 or $40 per month Yours respectfully,
GEO W WEIDLER, Sec'y

The secretary read a letter from a large ship owner in Maine, asking for certain information in relation to the shipping interest of the State his object being to convince the underwriters of the unjust discriminations against vessels coming to the Columbia river The secretary stated to the board that he had acknowledged the receipt of the letter and furnished the writer the desired information The communication was filed

MEMBERSHIP

The committee on membership reported the name of Mr Platt Burr as a proper person to become a member of the board On motion, the secretary was instructed to cast the vote of the board which resulted in the election of Mr Burr as a member of the Board of Trade

FIRST ORDER, RANGE AND SMALL HARBOR LIGHTS

The committee on navigation reported that they had examined the proposed petition which is to be forwarded by the collector of customs at Astoria to the chairman of the Lighthouse Board at Washington and after making sundry modifications and amendments to the same submitted it to the board accompanied with the recommendation that it be adopted The petition sets forth at great length and in detail the necessity of establishing a first order light upon Tillamook head a range light on Sand Island and a small harbor light upon Smith's point The petitioners ask the consideration of the board to the matters set forth in the petition and express the hope that the members will cause such recommendations in the premises to be sent to Congress as may induce that honorable body to make an appropriation for the erection of the lights before mentioned

The report of the committee was on motion adopted and the secretary instructed to forward a copy of the petition to the light house board

IMPROVEMENT OF UPPER COLUMBIA

Dr A C Kinney presented the following preamble and resolution which after being slightly amended was adopted

WHEREAS The engineers appointed by the war department to examine the practicability and cost of the contemplated removal of the obstructions to the navigation of the upper Columbia and of making a suitable canal and locks have reported the same favorably to the federal government and to Congress and

WHEREAS Such an improvement by opening up and making free the Columbia river by steam navigation from the sea to the Dalles 200 miles would greatly facilitate our means of transportation on this natural highway and afford a desirable and healthy competition for freights on the upper river and greatly benefit one half of the area of the State of Oregon as yet almost unsettled for want of cheap internal transportation

Resolved That the president and secretary be instructed to prepare and forward a petition to the respective houses of Congress under the seal of the board, asking that an appropriation be granted for the purpose of making such needed improvements

On motion the board adjourned

Mail advices indicate quite a severe closeness in the San Francisco money market caused by the continued drafts to New York and the requirements to set the mines at Virginia again in working order. All the banks in operation have been compelled to move measurably in concert and the curtailment of loans has been very large of late From May 1st to November the National Gold and Trust Company reduced their outstanding loans from $[illegible] to $1 [illegible] 881 From the [illegible] we learn that in the same period of 1874 being the season in which the [illegible] want money the bank increased its loans $40 000 Thus there was a difference of $ 200,000 in the accommodation from that one bank The [illegible] bank last year increased its loans $1 000 000 and this year has remained stationary The change in the course of the Bank of California involved the realization, as far as possible of the volume of its assets which was $18 000 000 This has been done no doubt prudently and with the just consideration due to all parties interested Nevertheless it is curtailment and the course has necessarily forced curtailment upon other institutions and capitalists A great many loans have been called in by various banks.

Our local money market is to a small extent affected by the above state of affairs in San Francisco and a good deal of conservatism is shown by city banks in making loans. The feeling here is however, one of greater security, as there is much less speculation in our financial relations and each dollar invested here is represented by a corresponding value [illegible]

Total	$81[illegible] 6[illegible]0

The coinage at the United States Mint in San Francisco for October compares as follows

October	1874	1875
Double Eagles	$2,975 000	$2,4[illegible]0 000
Trade Dollars	229 000	611 000
Quarter Dollars	—	47 000
Dimes		17 000
Totals	$3,204 000	$3,118 000

Since the reopening of the Mint in July operations have been conducted on an enlarged scale, the total coinage for the four months amounting to $12,781 000 A similar degree of activity prevailed during the same period last year and the results contrasted compare as follows

July 1 to Nov 1	1874	1875
Gold coinage	$11,500,000	$10 131 000
Silver coinage	903,000	2 6[illegible]0 000
Totals	$12,403,000	$12 781,000

Most of the large amount of silver coined this year went to Washington

The Lumber Industry.

A report published by the Lumbermen's Association, quoting the last census says that 25,832 establishments for sawing lumber in all of the States have 11,204 steam engines of 814 884-horse power, that they run 63,107 saws employ 149 997 hands have $118 436,232 capital invested, pay $40 000 162 for wages and $100,348,430 for materials and produce $210,159 327 annually. Six States have more than 1,000 of these establishments each—Maine 1 0[illegible] Michigan 1,571 Indiana 1 861 Ohio 2 [illegible]30 New York 3,510 and Pennsylvania 3 732. These establishments annually pay $28,000 000 for the products of the home manufacturers and mechanics and $30 000 000 for farm produce, and are intimately connected with great investments in wood land with railways and lesser interests. The business is shown by the facts given to extend along the whole line of the Northern States more than half of the whole product ($112 949 217) coming from Maine New York Pennsylvania Michigan Wisconsin and Minnesota though the Southern States owing to their wealth of pine live-oak and other lumber have also a very material concern

Hops

Messrs Woolliston & Sons latest Hop Circular is to hand and we extract the following The demand for fine to choice qualities continues to be brisk and the recent rise in value is fully maintained Yellow and brown new hops free from disease sell readily at a trifling advance The continental markets are heavily supplied but prices are well supported by the activity of the reports as to the inferior quality of much of the English produce and by speculative purchases for shipment here.

Domestic Produce.

The market under this head is generally active, with a brisk demand at full rates for the staple exportable products. Wheat and flour lead the market in point of volume and the movement is assuming very large proportions There seems to be a more settled feeling in regard to prices, which have been steady during the week so far Provisions are duller but meet with some demand for the local trade but shipments are not resulting favorably Oats continue as before, in light receipts and are firm at our quotations Eggs are a little lower and in better supply Fresh meats are held at quotations and the demands of the market are liberally met

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4 000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem all under cultivation and suitable for grain or vegetables

940 ACRES four miles southeast of Salem on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the present year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr Alfred Stanton of Salem

3,700 ACRES of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette river for four miles, beautiful lake on the east boat landings all along the river commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette valley to be purchased by a colony To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre This land will all be immediately resurveyed and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage and I can offer any person or persons or colony of persons desiring to purchase lands in the best part of the Willamette valley in or the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages as well as most favorably located with respect to market greater advantages on more favorable terms, than they ever expect to realize again THOMAS CROSS
